SENATORS VOTE FOR PRIVATE CONTROL

But Favor Representation of Labor on R. R. Directorates to Share Profits

Washington, Sept. 2.—Establishment of a system of profit-sharing by employes is but one of the far-reaching provisions of the bill for the restoration of the country's railroads to private ownership which was favorably reported today to the Senate by Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

The measure provides for the repeal of the Federal control act of March 21, 1918, and the return of the railroads on the last day of the calendar month in which it becomes a law.

Rates in force at the time the repeal takes effect are to remain in force "until changed by competent authorities."

In many respects the bill is extraordinary for the revolutionary changes in railroad ownership, management and operation incorporated in it.

The labor features as summed up by Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, a member of the committee "not only assure to employes just, fair and reasonable hours, wages and working conditions, but give them representation on the board of directors of the various railroad corporations and establish an employes' welfare fund from the excess earnings, which it is believed some of the roads will derive from the rates to be established under the bill."

The proposed employes' fund is to be expended by a railroad transportation board created by the bill, "upon the recommendation of an advisory committee representing the railroad brotherhoods, and is designed to pro-

ROMANCE SHATTERED BY ARREST OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Irwin F. Wilson, formerly Gladys E. Nason of Brookline, whose young husband has been arrested, charged with stealing automobile.

Providence, Sept. 2.—A shattered romance was revealed today when Irwin F. Wilson, who married Gladys E. Nason, a Brookline (Mass.) choir singer, was brought here charged with stealing the automobile in which they enjoyed their honeymoon.

Wilson, known also as Herbert Williams was arrested in Jacksonville, Fla., charged with stealing a machine owned by Howard C. Ripley of this city. His young bride, who was with him at the time, took the train alone for the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Nason, No. 15 Davis avenue, Brookline.

The couple were married on May 21st last after the police of several cities had hunted two days for the girl, after she disappeared from the home of her parents. The girl, who was a member of the choir of St. Mark's M. E. Church of Brookline, explained that she had intended to elope with Wilson, who lived at No. 1485 Beacon street, Brookline. Miss Nason left home for that purpose, but the groom to be was not on hand. It then developed that in her excitement the young woman had mistaken the night.

After considerable parental opposition had been dissipated, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Ralph Magee, pastor of St. Mark's Church. The bridegroom gave his age as twenty-seven, and his occupation as a mechanical engineer, formerly in the aviation service. The couple then left on a wedding trip, intending to live at Allston on its completion.

According to the police, Wilson and his bride came to this city and on July 1 stepped into Mr. Ripley's car, which was standing in front of the Union Station. It is alleged they drove away, but the car was later located at Brandon, Vt. When the Providence police arrived at that place car and occupants were gone, but a short time ago were picked up at Jacksonville. The police believe that the former Miss Nason is Wilson's second wife.

Actors Accused at Hearing

SUMMONS STRIKING SHOE MEN

Injunction Proceedings Are Brought Against Thomas G. Plant Company Operatives

Drastic action was taken today in the strike of operatives of the Thomas G. Plant Company when union officials were summoned to appear in court to show cause why an injunction should not be issued against them.

Subpoenas were presented to officials and members of the United Shoe Workers of America, Locals No. 73 and No. 15, and Allied Shoe Workers' Union of Greater Boston. They were directed to appear in the Equity Session of the Superior Court tomorrow morning in answer to a bill of complaint filed by the Thomas G. Plant Company, asking for an injunction.

As a result of this action an open hearing scheduled for today before the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration at the State House, was cancelled. Pickets who went to the Plant factory early today were directed to No. 70 Bromley street to await word from their counsel, Frederick W. Mansfield.

With the filing of the suit there was issued an order restraining the strikers from taking part in or in any way supporting or encouraging the strike. They were also restrained from paying strike benefits to any of the former employes of the company now on strike, and from intimidating any employes who desire to return to work.

The order also provided that no employes should be induced to leave their work other than by means of peaceful persuasion, or inducing them to break their contracts. In other words picketing is forbidden pending the decision of the court.

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 2.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and Georges Carpentier, the French champion, will meet in England for a purse of $175,000, if present plans are consummated.

Before leaving here for Detroit with the theatrical company with which Dempsey is appearing, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager announced he would accept the offer received from Carpentier's manager by cable yesterday.

Yankee 'Dry' Workers Refused Admission to London

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 2.—The British passport bureau today refused to visé the traveling papers of two American prohibition workers who wished to come to London to assist in the campaign to make Great Britain "dry."

The reason given was that the political situation in England is sufficiently delicate without allowing the prohibitionists to stir up the workmen with a no-beer [illegible]

The British newspapers had already dubbed the "dry" campaign a "pussy foot" movement.

ASKS INCREASE FOR EMPLOYES OF CITY

Watson Introduces Order at City Council Meeting to Raise Wages

Councillor James E. Watson today introduced at the meeting of the City Council an order calling for increases in wages of city employes ranging from 5 per cent. to 27 per cent.

This order, which was referred to the Committee on Finance, provided that the heads of city departments should include in their estimates for 1920 sufficient money to make up these increases, which would total $2,-000,000 a year.

Under the provisions of the order, which Mr. Watson said was introduced because of the high cost of living, men receiving $5,000 would be given a 5 per cent. increase. Those now getting between $4,999 and $4,500 would receive 8 per cent.; between $3,500 and $4,000, 10 per cent.; $3,000 and $3,500, 12 per cent.; $2,500 and $3,000, 15 per cent.; $2,000 and $2,500, 20 per cent., and all now being paid $1,500 to get 27 per cent.

CONDUCTOR KILLED IN QUEER ACCIDENT

Martin Powers, sixty-five, of Linden place, Somerville, a conductor on the Boston Elevated, was killed in an as yet unexplained accident at the Bennett street car barns in Cambridge today.

Powers and other workmen were shifting cars about the barn when one car jumped the track. His companions found the mangled and lifeless form of the conductor under the wheels of the car. Nobody had seen him just before the accident, and the other carmen are at a loss to explain the tragedy.

APPEAR ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Attorneys on Both Sides Lining Up Forces Here for Bitter Battle

Managers of six Boston theatres which were "darkened" by a strike yesterday just before the curtains were to be rung up for the holiday matinees, today took steps designed to bring about the arrest of the actors and actresses who walked out at the command of the Actors' Equity Association.

ACTORS QUESTIONED.

At a hearing today before John M. Morrison as master, the charge was made that members of the "Breakfast in Bed" company violated an injunction issued by Judge Lawton.

This violation, according to counsel for A. H. Woods, took place on Saturday morning when he charged members of the company attended a meeting of the Actors' Equity Association, at which a strike of actors was voted.

As a result of this action Judge McLaughlin of the Superior Court was later visited at his home in West Roxbury, by Mr. Woods' counsel, and issued an order of notice which was made returnable on Thursday.

Francis M. Carroll, counsel for Mr. Woods, called Will Deming, Leon Gordon, Harry Haslon and other members of the cast at today's hearing.

After they were questioned regarding the meeting of Saturday and the service of notice on the petition for contempt, Mr. Morrison announced he would hear no more testimony and would report to the Superior Court whether existing conditions warrant a continuance of the preliminary injunction issued by Judge Lawton.

BITTER FIGHT PROBABLE.

Attorneys for the other theatres affected, the Tremont, Shubert, Wilbur, Colonial and Park Square, were busy today lining up their forces for the bitter legal battle with the Equity that is promised, declaring that they would not only push contempt proceedings, but would seek to obtain recognition of damage suits.

Unless the unforeseen happens, the theatres are likely to be dark for some time, as the musicians and stage

Boston Veterans to Have Their Poll Taxes Abated

Boston World War veterans, numbering 16,000, are entitled to an abatement of their $2 poll taxes for the current year, according to officials of the city assessing department. Those who have paid their taxes will get the money back, and those who have not paid may have their bills cancelled by calling at City Hall. Any man who was in service in 1917 and 1918 may have their taxes refunded for those years. In addition the veterans will be exempt from the extra assessment of $3 during the next four years. Poll taxes for the ordinary citizen will be $5 a year for four years, beginning next year, the extra $3 to be used to pay a part of the State bonus of $100 to veterans.

PREPARE NEW PLAN TO OFFER POLICE

Late today Messrs. Storrow, Phelan and Brock met Attorneys Feeney and Usher at the Parker House to further discuss the police situation. The executive committee of the Mayor's committee met this morning and after the meeting announced that no concrete plans had been arrived at.

Officers of the Policemen's Union with their counsel are in conference today prior to meeting Chairman Storrow and Messrs. Phelan and Brock of the Mayor's committee. It is thought that at this latter conference the Mayor's representatives will have a proposition to submit.

They have conferred with Commissioner Curtis and it is believed have arrived at what they consider a basis for a solution of the difficulties. The patrolmen will not consent to any scheme which has for its purpose the

ATTACK ON SCOUTING PLANE

Captain McNabb Is Seriously Wounded When More Than 100 Shots Are Fired

By International News Service.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 2.—Captain David B. McNabb of the Eighth U. S. Aero Squadron was shot in the head and seriously wounded today when a band of Mexican soldiers fired more than 100 shots at an army airplane in which he and Lieutenant Johnson were scouting in the vicinity of San Isabel Creek, sixteen miles northwest of Laredo.

According to a report made at army headquarters, Captaain McNabb and Lieutenant Johnson were flying at a low altitude on scout duty when a band of twenty-five Mexicans on the Mexican side of the border opened fire on them.

Captain McNabb headed his machine upwards in an effort to escape the fusillade of shots, but was struck back of the ear by one of the bullets before he could guide his plane out of the range of the Mexican bullets.

Although bleeding profusely, Captain McNabb managed to make a safe landing near the Lyendecker Mullally farm. After rendering first aid Lieutenant Johnson reported the attack to the military commander at Fort McIntosh, who ordered an army officer to the Mullally farm via airplane.

Reports have been current for the past week of an air attack on American aviators by Mexicans who fired from the Mexican side of the border.

SENATORS VOTE FOR EMPLOYES TO SHARE PROFITS OF RAILROADS

LABOR TO BE REPRESENTED ON BOARDS OF DIRECTORS

mote hospital relief, improve conditions of labor, lessen the hazards of employment, supplement existing systems of insurance and pensions, afford opportunities for the technical education of employes and to establish a system of profit-sharing, for them," Robinson added.

"There is no purpose to oppress or permit the oppression of railroads to be continued. "On the contrary the bill is intended to secure them their just rights. Having done this, it cannot be considered unfair to protect the public against the dangers of strikes and lockouts."

30 TO 35 SYSTEMS.

The policy of the United States is declared, according to Chairman Cummins' exhaustive analysis of the bill, to be that the railroads "shall be divided in ownership and operation into not less than twenty nor more than thirty-five separate and distinct systems, each of these systems to be owned and operated by a distinct corporation, organized or reorganized under the bill.

"The railroad transportation board is to consist of five members appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, at $12,000 a year each. No member of this board can hold any office or employment under any railroad corporation or be pecuniarily interested in the stock or bonds of any such corporation.

Many of the functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission are transferred to this board, which is "clothed with many and most important powers in addition to making the plan of consolidation of all the railroads of the country into not less than twenty nor more than thirty-five systems," Cummins said.

"Advances made by the government to the railroads and properly chargeable to capital account, are to be evidenced by bonds or other securities, payable in five years, with interest at five per cent. per annum, further indebtedness to be evidenced by demand notes, with interest at six per cent. per annum," Cummins stated.

FOR CONTROL OF RATES.

Upon the passage of the bill, the Interstate Commerce Commission is "to divide the country into rate districts and the carriers into rate groups for rate-making purposes. In establishing rates for the various districts or rate groups as a whole this board is to be "free from local and apart from the question of the reasonableness of rates upon particular commodities or classes of property competitive."

Under the bill, "new schedules of rates which are filed within thirty days after Federal control ceases become effective at the end of four months after they are filed, with such changes as the commission may in the meantime order and until the expiration of the four months' period this act constitutes a guaranty to the railroads which has entered into contracts respecting compensation under the act of March 21, 1918, of a proportionate amount of the contract compensation, and with respect to the railroads with which no contracts have been made it constitutes a guaranty of a proportional railroad operating income.

"At the end of this period the guaranty ceases. If during the period any railroad earns more than the guaranty the excess is to be paid into the treasury of the United States.

COMMISSION ANALYZES BILL.

In analyzing section 4 of the bill Senator Cummins stated:

"In making rates for the rate groups the commission is to take into consideration the value of the property, the shippers, the wages of labor, the cost of maintenance and operation—including taxes—and a fair return upon the value of the property used or held for the purpose of transportation, and it is required to lower rates accordingly.

"If any railroad in the group receives more than a fair return upon the value of its property the excess is to be paid to the railroad transportation board created under the bill.

One-half of the excess is to be used by the board in the following manner:

"First—The promotion of invention and research to ameliorate the conditions of labor and to lessen the hazards of employment.

"Second—To extend and improve hospital relief.

"Third—To supplement existing systems of insurance and pensions.

"Fourth—To afford opportunity for technical education of employes.

"Fifth—To establish a system of profit-sharing by employes.

"In the administration of this fund, the board is to organize an employes' advisory council, composed of one representative of each of the several craft of railroad employes; the remaining one half of the excess is to be deposited in a fund and expended by the board in the purchase of equipment to be leased to railroads under proper terms or to be loaned to carriers unable to provide themselves with equipment and facilities upon reasonable security.

"No excess earnings above a fair dividend are to be capitalized or used as a basis for increased rates."

Section nine of the bill was described by Senator Cummins as furnishing the keynote of the solution of the railroad problem, presented in the proposition for the division of the ownership and operation of the railroads into not less than twenty nor more than thirty-five systems. He said:

"It provides that in the division of the railroads into systems, competition shall be preserved as fully as possible, and wherever practicable existing routes and channels of interstate commerce shall be maintained; that the several systems shall be so arranged that the cost of transportation as between competitive systems and as related to the value of the traffic and property shall be the same so far as practicable, to the end that these systems can employ, upon a uniform basis, the movement of competitive traffic and, under efficient management, earn substantially the same rate of return upon the value of their respective properties."

Features of Railroad Profit-Sharing Bill

Among the provisions of the railroad bill favorably reported by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today are:

Repeal of the Federal Control Act, and return of the roads to private ownership almost immediately.

Creation of a Railroad Transportation Board of five members, vested with almost dictatorial powers on transportation questions.

Division of the railroad lines into from twenty to thirty-five systems, each a distinct corporation.

Profit-sharing by the employes.

Representation of labor on the boards of directors of the lines.

Restriction of the roads to "fair profits," excess profits to be turned back to the Railroad Transportation Board, for the public good.

Division of the country into rate districts, arranged scientifically and without the discriminations of the past.

Use of the "excess profits" for scientific research along transportation lines, hospital relief for employes, insurance and pension funds.

Freight and passenger rates now in force to be undisturbed for the present.

nands have joined the actors and in the circumstances there is small likelihood that any of the managers will attempt to operate their houses until the fight is either won or lost.

Meetings of the Equity Association and the Producing Managers' Association—the former at the Crawford House and the latter at the Hollis Street Theatre—were called this afternoon.

FORCED OUT, SAYS PAGE.

Will A. Page, spokesman for the managers, declared that only thirty-one actors actually had struck, and that 171 others had gone out only because they were forced to do so. The Equity Association declared, however, that the great majority of the actors were members of the association and were secretly in sympathy with the strike.

Stage Hands Refuse to Work and Close One More New York Theatre

New York, Sept. 2—The drama war here loomed more ominous than ever today following the refusal of union stage hands to work at the Shubert Theatre last night where Fortune Gallin's opera, the "Mikado" was to have had its premiere. As a result the opera was unable to open. All the members of its cast were in good standing in the Equity association.

Surprise at such action was manifested by both the strikers and the producing managers because Gallin is a supporter of the Actors' Equity Association and its cause. He will have to pay rent for the theatre whether the opera is presented or not. Equity leaders said an explanation of the move would have to come from the stage mechanics' union.

In addition, the Comedy Theatre was unable to open with a new show and moving picture operators at the Rivoli Opera House walked out, darkening that house. Union heads refused to say whether the operators' action presaged a similar strike at all movie houses in New York.

POLICEMEN TO CONFER WITH STORROW

Union Will Consider New Plan Designed to Avert Strike

abandonment of their charter in the American Federation of Labor. Nor will Commissioner Curtis assent to a recognition of the right of the men to organization with such a charter.

Among the intimate friends of Commissioner Curtis great concern for his physical well being is held. They state that his health is not of the best, and that any stress at this time might be troublesome to him. When the captains were last before the commissioner for a talk the poor condition of his health was apparent.

He was forced to stop speaking in the middle of his address and ask Superintendent Crowley to continue the talk. He spoke with apparent great labor. This, coupled with the fact that in April he was forced to absent himself from his duties for a considerable time, is used as the basis for the contention that his health is not good.

Union policemen continue indignant over some of the published reports of alleged happenings that were or were to be. They state positively that they have never been given the alternative of resigning from the union or from the department; that they have no responsible for such stories is unfriendly to the union and is doing his utmost to break it up.

An order for all long-day men on the police force and all men back from days off to report to the captains of their various districts at 4 o'clock this morning was issued but not later than midnight. The order is believed to have been issued in connection with the actors' strike.

Another order issued late was read by President McInnis at the union meeting. No vote on a strike was taken by the union policemen and no mention or intimation of a police strike was made within union headquarters.

GAIN 25 MEMBERS.

Twenty-five new members were obligated at the union meeting. Since the formation of the union only 400 members have been initiated in the face of existing conditions.

It is practically certain that the police union will take no action until the conferences between the Mayor's committee, the police officials, and the police commissioner have been concluded, and Mr. Curtis the latter's answer in his decision.

Mr. Storrow was optimistic today over the possibilities of arranging an amicable settlement of the demands of the policemen.

"We feel that we are in possession of full information regarding the 'underlying features' of the question to be adjudicated," he said.

"The decks are cleared and we are prepared to begin today the real constructive work," added the committee chairman.

CONFER WITH CURTIS.

Chairman Storrow met with Mayor Peters for two hours at City Hall and later, accompanied by James J. Phelan and George E. Brock, other members of the sub-committee of three, he called on Commissioner Curtis at the latter's office.

What transpired at these two conferences was briefly related by Chairman Storrow.

"I haven't seen His Honor since our committee was named and met with him by appointment," he said.

"The Mayor was acquainted fully with everything that has transpired here at the conference—the stories of grievances related by the men of the union, their statements as to their wages, hours of labor and activities."

Asked if any concrete proposition looking to a settlement had been advanced, Mr. Storrow replied in the negative.

CURTIS IS SILENT.

The chairman continued: "It was suggested at City Hall that we should confer with Commissioner Curtis. His Honor agreed. We chatted for a few hours with Mr. Curtis.

"The commissioner said, when we arrived, that he did not desire to have anything said regarding the principal point to be adjudicated."

Questioned further on this he replied that the right of the men to affiliate with the A. F. of L. or any other organization outside of the department was the point.

This matter was not discussed at all."

STUDIES RULE 35.

Asked as to whether any plan or suggestions for settlement were made at the conference he said that there had not.

It was in answer to a question as to whether Commissioner Curtis would furnish the citizens' committee with further information as to his stand that Chairman Storrow said he didn't think so, but that Commissioner Curtis was "considering the legality" of Rule 35.

"Have you not been inquired of Attorney John F. Feeney.

"Yes, I understand that he is considering the validity of the rule as it applies to the welfare of the men," was the police counsel's reply.

LABOR EXPECTS PEACE IN PLAN OF WILSON

A. F. of L. Men See Ray of Hope in "Round Table" Conference

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 2—With labor leaders generally indorsing President Wilson's plan for a "round table" conference between capital and labor, further details of the plan were being awaited today.

Since the President's announcement that he would call such a meeting at the earliest possible date to put "The whole question of wages upon a different footing," there has been no intimation from the White House of what the procedure would be. It is reported, however, that the President is giving considerable attention to plans for the meeting.

John Scott, secretary of the railways division of the American Federation of Labor, who is engaged in canvassing the strike vote of the railway shopmen, today declared that the President's plan was the only one "through which the workers could obtain justice."

James Eagan, A. F. of L. editor, saw a ray of hope for the steel men in the plan.

"It is just what the steel workers have been demanding for," he asserted.

The postoffice clerks' union also was preparing to co-operate actively in bringing the conference about, according to Gilbert M. Hyatt, president of the organization.

ARMS LANDED IN IRELAND BY SINN FEIN

Rifles Are Taken Ashore While Another Ship Is Being Pursued

Cork, Ireland, Sept. 2.—While a British cruiser captured the steamship Hampshire Coast off the Irish coast and brought her here under the guns of submarine chasers, another vessel, said to have been the real Sinn Fein munitions carrier, for which the Hampshire was taken, eluded the British naval patrol and landed a consignment of arms and ammunition on the coast of County Clare.

Coast guard service men had informed British officials about a big gunrunning expedition by a steamer that left London last Wednesday, and a patrol cruiser caught the Hampshire Coast, a 400-ton vessel.

Troops unloaded the cargo while all approaches to the vessel were guarded by a cordon of British gunners, but nothing in the nature of contraband was found aboard the Hampshire. Coast guard cruiser gunnery officers believe a mistake was made.

Arms Landed in Ireland; Carson Starts New Fight to Repeal Home Rule Bill

By L. R. MURDOCH,

(Staff Correspondent of the Boston American).

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, Sept. 2—Sir Edward Carson has gone to Belfast, where he will at once launch an anti-home rule campaign, in line with his speech of September 28, 1914, when he said:

"When the war is over, we shall call our volunteers together and we shall repeal the Home Rule bill, so far as it concerns us, in ten minutes."

The Daily News says the first step toward calling out the Ulster Volunteers, who threatened revolt in 1914 if Home Rule included Ulster, has been taken in the form of the decision to re-establish the Ulster clubs.

MOBILIZATION NEXT.

In 1912 these clubs became automatically battalions of the Ulster Volunteer forces north of Boyne. And now the decree for the re-establishment of the clubs is regarded as the prelude to a general mobilization order.

Carson, it is learned, is to unfold his immediate plans at a meeting of the Ulster Unionist Council, which is the central authority of the Ulster provisional government.

A special dispatch to the Daily News from Dublin says:

"There is no doubt that Carson will display his skill in walking on the windy side of treason and that, as usual, he can be relied upon to clamor for the full rigor of the law against those who imitate his methods without observing his precautions.

"There is a strange rumor flying around that the government will decline to be overawed by Carson, and it has threatened, it is said, that the garrisons in Ulster will be increased by 20,000.

"On the other hand, students of Ulster opinion think that, though Carson is unlikely to spare the coalition government in his speeches, his performances will furnish it the excuse it desires for shirking the solution of the Irish difficulty.

"Carson's aim is to continue the existing confusion and chaos and the government's object is to evade the necessity of dealing directly with the Irish problem. There may be a troop concentration in the northern counties, but as long as the Ulster garrisons are commanded by good conservatives like General Hacket Bein, the former chief of staff of the Ulster provisional government, the Carsonites are not likely to be disturbed."

"ENGLAND MUST CEASE ROBBERY OF FRANCE"

By International News Service.

Paris, Sept. 2—The arrest of Emir Bey, a friend of France, by the British at Beyrout, Syria, has provoked a hot protest here. The Paris Temps, in commenting upon the incident, points out that the British have also arrested Mujleh Bey, a leading Bedouin, who has pleaded before the American mission headed by Charles R. Crane, in behalf of a French mandate for Syria.

The charge is made by the newspaper Liberte that "British intrigues in Syria have resulted in the recommendations of the American mission being unfavorable to a French mandate in the Levant."

"England must cease robbing France," declares this newspaper, adding "If a map showing the territorial gains of Great Britain could be published side by side with another representing French gains, the modesty of our claims would be apparent."

EXPLOSION KILLS 20 ON BRITISH WARSHIPS

By Universal Service.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, Sept. 2—Two officers and eighteen members of the crews of the British warships Glowworm and Cossack were killed when the two vessels closed in on a burning lighter in the harbor of Archangel, not knowing the lighter was loaded with ammunition, the Admiralty announced today.

One officer was fatally injured and two officers and seventeen men sustained injuries from which they will recover. The lighter blew up as the warships approached it.

CHELSEA BOY ARRESTED DRIVING STOLEN AUTO

Charged with the larceny of an automobile, John W. Dereshinsky, aged sixteen years, son of Morris and Jennie Dereshinsky of No. 71 2d street, Chelsea, was arrested on Revere Beach Parkway by Patrolman Brock. At the time of the arrest the boy was riding in the machine.

When Dereshinsky was taken to the police station he said that the machine was owned by his sister in Revere, but the registration number showed that the car was owned by Harnett Brase of East Boston. According to the police the boy admitted that he had taken the car from Nahant avenue, Revere, and did not know to whom it belonged. He was released in the custody of his mother and will be arraigned in Malden Court.

NO DECISION IN CASE OF BAY STATE MEN

The Board of Conciliation and Arbitration today announced it had reached no decision in regard to the request of the employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company that it revise the award of the War Labor Board. The board stated it was still considering the reply of the trustees sent them Friday, expressing the opinion that the board has no jurisdiction and refused to become a party to any further arbitration proceedings.

PASSENGERS ASLEEP AS AERIAL PULLMAN LANDS

Cleveland, O., Sept. 2—With two of its nine passengers sound asleep, the big twenty-six passenger Lawson Aerial Pullman landed here late yesterday from Toledo, and today was preparing to fly to Buffalo. The 107-mile flight from Toledo required an hour and five minutes. The big machine is the first of a projected squadron for trans-country travel.

PALMER TO SPEAK IN BOSTON TONIGHT

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 2—Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer, who has and a slight cold for several days past, but much improved, is proceeding to Boston today where he will address the American Bar Association in the evening. Mrs. Palmer took matters into her own hands Saturday and ordered the Attorney-General to bed. She personally cancelled all engagements for Sunday, Monday and Labor Day, and the result is his rapid recovery.

A complete report on the attack today has been forwarded to the proper authorities in Washington.

Adam Schaefer, Slain by Bandit, Was a United States Citizen

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 2—Adam Schaefer, an independent mining operator, who was murdered by Mexican bandits on January 10, 1919, at Las Pinos in the Mexican State of Zacatecas, was an American citizen, the State Department has been advised from Salina Cruz, it was announced today. Previous press dispatches which were confirmed in general by the department's advices were in doubt whether he was an American citizen of a British subject.

The murder of Schaefer apparently was the purpose of robbery, it was stated, as Schaefer is known to have had with him at the time money for the pay of the employes of the Cinco Estrallas mine, of which he was general manager. The bandits succeeded in making off with it they made a rich haul.

Federal Mexican troops who were reported to have been sent to Zacatecas last week to break up the bandit bands operating there have killed the leader of the bandits who murdered Schaefer, according to published reports in Mexico City on August 31, the State Department was advised.

Schaefer's mother lives in Sharpsburg, Pa.

DEPORT RADICAL AGITATORS, URGES ATTORNEY GENERAL NEWTON

ANTIDOTE FOR U. S. UNREST

Speaker Declares "American Bolshevikl" Seek to Do Here What "Reds" Did in Russia

Deportation of the more radical agitators, prosecution of extremists who openly advocate violence and overthrow of the government, the organization of the veterans of the World War into actively patriotic legions ever watchful of movements designed to destroy the ideals for which these veterans fought and the initiation of an intensive campaign of Americanism were prescribed today by Attorney-General Charles D. Newton of New York as State as a counter-irritant for Bolshevism in the United States.

The attorney-general, who is counsel to the New York State Legislative Committee to Investigate Bolshevism, spoke before the annual convention of the National Association of attorneys-general in connection with the American Bar Association annual meeting in the Rogers building.

Characterizing the I. W. W. and the more radical Socialist in the United States as "the Bolshevik of America," Attorney-General Newton declared that there is no fundamental distinction between the ultimate aims of the I. W. W. and the Bolshevik or between their means and methods of accomplishing these aims.

WOULD DEPORT I. W. W.'S.

"What the Bolshevikl did in Russia their American fraternals, the I. W. W. and other radical Socialists, seek to do in this country," Attorney-General Newton said. "Don't be deceived. The doctrines are twin.

"Here are we to handle the problem of radicalism confronting us in this country, is the question that is engaging the minds of practically every Legislature in the country. Of course, it will become necessary to prosecute and convict some of the more radical ones who have openly defied the law by flagrantly preaching the doctrine of violence and overthrow of government. We cannot permit these anarchists to spread the doctrine of disloyalty.

"I also believe that in deportation lies the most effective means of solving this problem. Large numbers of these radicals are aliens who have no intention of becoming American. They come to this country solely for the purpose of agitating unrest. They should be deported.

AMERICANISM THE ANTIDOTE.

"As additional remedies, I would suggest Americanization and the country-wide organization of the veterans of the world war into actively patriotic legions, ever watchful of movements designed to destroy the ideals for which these veterans fought.

"By Americanization I mean intensive instruction in our schools in the ideals and traditions of America, in the nature of her institutions, in the history of these United States.

"Into the minds of our children an appreciation of the liberties America alone can give, that liberties that spring from respect for law and order, obedience to constituted authority; liberties, rights and consequent happiness which are unobtainable in any other country in the world, and you will create in the new generation an Americanitizensry that in the years to come will stamp out the last vestige of I. W. W. and kindred creeds.

"Let Americanism be the universal aim. Teach it to American children, and preach it to the foreigner who comes to our shores. Americanism is surely an antidote for Bolshevism.

"In the creation all over the country of American legions which enroll the veterans of the World War we have the means further to combat Bolshevism. These men who stood ready to save the supreme sacrifice in France will not tolerate the preachings of the malcontents in America. Every legion formed will be a combat unit for the destruction of radicalism."

Root Urges Government of of Laws to Save Country From Industrial Unrest

Elihu Root, Attorney - General Charles D. Newton of New York and other prominent men were speakers at the convention of the American Bar Association, which opened here today. Mr. Root spoke in Jacob Sleeper Hall, Boston University, in the afternoon.

Another distinguished member of the convention was Lord Robert Finlay of England, who has been mentioned as presiding justice at the proposed trial of the Kaiser. Lord Robert arrived today and registered at the Copley-Plaza.

Mr. Root, in his address, referred to present conditions in Russia and to the general world-wide unrest. He declared that "amid loud outcries on the high cost of living," a great amount of jewelry was being sold, and that the automobile concerns had never before done such a thriving business.

CRIMINAL LAW DISCUSSED.

"There can be no safety for the peace and security of the world and the maintenance of the individual home, wife and children," said he, "unless there be a goverment of laws and not of men; unless the dictate of the majority of the moment shall be in conformity with the great principles of right and the rules of right conduct."

In connection with the convention of the American Bar Association are being held meetings of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology and the National Association of Attorneys-General. United States Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer will speak tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology met in the men's assembly room, B. U., and will continue its sessions tomorrow. The institute took up the whole subject of criminal law, with the object of modernizing it.

In the address of welcome was by Charles A. DeCourcy, Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, with a response by Hugo Pam, Judge of the Superior Court of Cook county, Illinois, president of the institute.

SESSIONS TOMORROW.

The committee reports deal with insanity and criminal responsibility, probation and suspended sentence, crime and immigration, drugs and crime, indeterminate sentence, release on parole and pardon; public defender, metropolitan and State police, and reports of the treasurer and secretary of the institute, and business manager of the Journal of the institute.

The second session will take place in the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza hotel tonight at 8 o'clock, beginning with an address by President Pam. Dean John H. Wigmore of Northwestern University will speak on "What Civil Procedure May Gain From Military Judicial Process," and an address by Governor Coolidge.

There will be a business section tomorrow morning at Boston University with a luncheon at noon in the Copley-Plaza. Herbert C. Parsons, deputy commissioner of probation of this city, presiding. Mrs. Mary E. Padden of the Committee on Criminal Courts, New York city, will speak on the work of the inferior criminal courts, and Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, Col., will discuss extension of Chancery Court jurisdiction to the settlement of sex cases.

Expert Tells Women How to Help Cut Down Cost of Living

Buy Wisely and Personally Investigate Prices, Is Mrs. Murphy's Advice

By MRS. CLAUDIA I. MURPHY,

Home Economic Consultant and Advisory Counsel.

Women must stabilize the commercial situation if this country's prosperity is kept intact. This is the most important economic crisis we have ever faced as a nation. In the last analysis it's up to the women of America to keep cool and hold tightly to the balance wheel which will keep the ship of state straight and true in its course.

This country is a commercial country. We live on our industry and our commerce; they rise and fall together. To the extent that they prosper do we succeed and prosper.

Every family is intimately connected with the success or failure of our commerce and industries. If these fail where will any woman get the money for her butcher, grocer or the omnipresent gas and electric light bills? That's the thing that every woman knows these days when the high cost of living has brought politics crashing into the family kitchen in a way which would be spectacular were it not so tragic for every one concerned.

Women Have Learned Great Lesson.

The little worn family pocketbook has taught mother a great lesson in economics these past few months. Women dare not take a sentimental view of industry these days. Ninety per cent. of the purchasing power of our nation rests in the hands of women. The law of supply and demand has come to have a new and definite meaning to women. It so quickly resolves itself into the old-fashioned, homely problem of enough meat, bread, butter, milk and eggs.

There are 20,000,000 women organized now, pledging themselves to personally investigate the prices charged them at their own corner grocery store. Women have accepted their new citizenship in a practical way.

PUTS POLITICS IN KITCHEN

Mrs. Claudia I. Murphy believes it is up to the women of America to "keep cool and hold tightly to the balance wheel which will keep the ship of state straight and true in its course."

At this most critical period of our industrial existence the council and judgment of women must come to the front. This is no time to embroider new and elaborate designs on the fabric of our industrial life. And women must help the nation see this now. If they do not see clearly the ultimate end of issues involved in certain plans and bills now before Congress, for measures which will slowly but surely sap the life blood of our industrial and commercial life, then the result will revert disastrously back to every fireside in this nation.

Women Have Been Made Capitalists.

Take this matter of transportation, for instance. Its relation to wages and freight charges is directly linked up to the prices a woman pays for food and clothing. Then there is the question of capital—that comes home to every woman, too.

The government made women capitalists when it taught them to invest in Liberty Bonds. Capital means only the surplus of our earnings or our income. In the purchase of Liberty Bonds every home that so backed up the government became an investor and to that extent a capitalist. Every man and woman in this country who is industrious is an active or potential capitalist, and the homes of this country must be concerned with the making of laws which affect their savings and their personal participation in industrial life.

The hand that rocks the cradle dare not rock the boat. The world's greatest need today is for service, and the greatest service women can offer is to contribute a real sense of steadiness, of wise buying and of clear, consistent judgment on matters of national importance. Let us learn to "sit tight" and keep cool. The time for sentimental makeshifts has gone by. It is up to the women to realize the critical importance of the period we are now passing through and to help by studying and understanding the real sources of our national wealth and prosperity.

DRIVE AGAINST PROFITEERING IS OPENED

Special Grand Jury Begins to Hear Evidence Involving Packers

By International News Service.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The big drive against food hoarding and profiteering opened here today, with the convening of a special Grand Jury before which United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne will present evidence against the "Big Five" packers, sugar men and others, which he has obtained during the past three weeks.

Subpoenas have been issued for complete records of all packing companies in forty cities. Clyne hopes by inspection of these records to trace the profits which the government alleges were concealed, as well as evidence of market manipulations through which the sale of meat, cattle and allied industries were kept in the grip of the packers.

The five sugar dealers now under arrest for alleged violation of the food act will be among the first cases brought before the Grand Jury.

400 SARDINE PACKERS STRIKE AT EASTPORT

Eastport, Me., Sept. 2.—The first strike of the sardine season occurred when four hundred employes of the Seacoast Canning Company factory, No. 4, struck for higher wages. The employes of the Independent factory of E. A. Holmes also struck, but returned later at the same wages. There are indications that other plants may have strikes.

The largest supplies of herring in recent years have been received since July. Twelve canneries are being run day and night. The state factory owners will close the season, if the strikers hold out. They claim they cannot pay the demands. Factory four handles one hundred hogsheads or packs four million cans of sardines daily. The largest plant in this section is owned by the company is here. There are no labor unions here.

NEWPORT'S $10,000 DRIVE IS EXTENDED

Newport, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Daniel M. Fearing, president of the local active workers in the Civic League campaign for $10,000 in this city and vicinity to relieve the destitute in Europe, will address a meeting tonight until this evening to allow Miss Maude K. Wetmore, who is in charge of the summer colony team, to complete her solicitations. If Miss Wetmore's team does what is expected of it the total of $10,000 will soon be reached. Admiral Sims has donated a number of photographs signed by himself.

'Blue Dawn' New Color for Shirtwaists Next Year

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Three new colors—blue dawn, peach blossom and bisque—will appear in the spring shirtwaist, according to a decree of the United Waist League of America, which has just concluded a lengthy conference with principal dyemakers of the country. The league includes all the wholesale makers of women's blouses in the country. The dyes will be of American manufacture.

"An American waist dyed with American dyes will keep its color through the wash of 1920," said Mr. Mosscowitz, president of the league. "Our dyers have solved the problem of 'fast' colors and there isn't a color on our card that will not hold out as long as the fabric."

The colors range from bright to brilliant, and among their names are ivory, flesh, taupe gold, adriatic, apricot, orchid, bermuda, silver gray and navy.

1,125 RESCUED; S.S. BRADFORD REFLOATED

Provincetown Line Boat Went Ashore on East End of Castle Island

After being aground on the east end of Castle Island, the Provincetown boat, Dorothy Bradford, was floated at 3 a. m. today and brought to the Bay Line pier on Atlantic avenue. Saved from a panic, when the steamer went ashore in the dense fog, by the coolness and quick action of officials, the 1,125 passengers were removed and brought to the city on the Nantasket steamer Old Colony.

The Bradford, on a cursory examination, was pronounced to be undamaged, but today's trip was omitted in order that an official examination might be made by the underwriters. The boat will resume her trips tomorrow.

DR. O. F. LEWIS WILL TALK TO SONG LEADERS

Dr. O. F. Lewis, head of the music department of the National War Camp Community Service, has arrived in Boston and will give a lecture this evening at the Summer Training School for Volunteer Song Leaders at the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library, 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Dr. Lewis, who is a brother of Leo Rich Lewis of Tufts College, has a reputation as a prison reform worker as well as a song leader and director of community enterprises in the Victory Plant at Squantum and was making good wages.

Dahl informed his relatives on Saturday that he intended to go to Norfolk, and later to Portland, where his sister and brother-in-law are going to visit over the holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Tannick returned to their home, and detected the odor of gas from a room which the young man was accustomed to occupy during frequent visits to the house. Investigation disclosed the fact that he had severed the tubing from another part of the house, fastened it to the burner and taken his life. Medical Examiner Leary was notified.

PARCEL POST SERVICE WITH SPAIN RESUMED

Parcel post service between the United States and Spain was established today, it was announced at the Boston postoffice. The Balearic Islands, Canary Islands and Spanish possessions in northern Africa are included. Each parcel is limited in weight to eleven pounds and must be accompanied by customs declarations. Among the articles prohibited transmission are perishable products, playing cards, money and religious objects.

STOW SCHOOLS OPEN WITH NEW TEACHERS

Stow, Sept. 2.—The Stow public schools reopened this morning with a registration by William H. Millington, superintendent of schools, at 225, of which number forty-five are high school pupils. Edward Green of Somerset is principal of the high school. All the high school teachers are newcomers. Miss Christine Holmes is principal of the intermediate grades.

Veteran of 74 Years on Jaunt of 500 Miles

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 2.—The spirit which animated veterans to demand that they be permitted to dance at the coming Confederate reunion was manifested by seventy-four-year-old Colonel Jack Hale, who is walking from Ada, Oklahoma, to Atlanta.

Colonel Hale, who is one of the delegates from Jeo Shelby Camp of Veterans at Chickasha, Oklahoma, to the national reunion, left Ada on the evening of August 25. He planned to allow himself four weeks to cover the nearly 500 miles traveling by way of Little Rock, Memphis and Chattanooga. He will accept rides from passing automobilists.

BOY OF 18 ENDS LIFE BY GAS POISONING

Eighteen-year-old Oswald M. Dahl, Jr., committed suicide by gas poisoning in the home of his sister, Mrs. Andrew Tannick at No. 148 Millet street, Dorchester, according to the police. The young man was found lying on a couch with one end of a gas tube in his mouth, the other end being attached to an open burner.

No reason for the suicide could be given by his relatives, the police said, as young Dahl was apparently in good spirits when last seen by them on Saturday. He was employed at the Victory Plant at Squantum and was making good wages.

Dahl informed his relatives on Saturday that he intended to go to Norfolk, and later to Portland, where his sister and brother-in-law are going to visit over the holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Tannick returned to their home, and detected the odor of gas from a room which the young man was accustomed to occupy during frequent visits to the house. Investigation disclosed the fact that he had severed the tubing from another part of the house, fastened it to the burner and taken his life. Medical Examiner Leary was notified.

EXPECT NO INDICTMENTS FROM PROBE ON FOOD

The special Federal Grand Jury, which was convened August 13 to investigate food profiteering and hoarding, will probably be dismissed tomorrow without handing down indictments, according to Assistant District Attorney Daniel M. Shea. The jury, which was in session four days, was adjourned to September 3, but as there are no witnesses to come before it will be dismissed in all probability. It was stated, however, that the Department of Justice is continuing its investigations, and any evidence secured will be presented to the regular session of the Grand Jury which convenes September 9.

FORMER STRIKE LEADERS SPEAKERS AT LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Sept. 2.—The Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, which takes in the greater part of the workers who comprised the strikers in the local mills early in the year, observed three days of recreation ending with a mass meeting on a vacant lot at the corner of Short and Chestnut streets.

Anthony Caprari, Arturo Giovannitti and other prominent speakers addressed the members. The mass meeting was an enthusiastic one. Cedric Long presided. Joseph Salerno, who led the Italians in the strike, spoke as did Frank Coco, who, up to a few days ago, was leading the Italians in a strike at Dion, N. S.

PARTITION OF HUNGARY IS OPPOSED

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Receives Protestants

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Not only would the cause of peace not be promoted by the partition of Hungary but a new Balkan or Macedonia would be created right in the heart of Europe and become the source of permanent strife and complications," it was stated in a brief embodying Hungary's claims submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today by the Hungarian-American Federation.

We feel that Hungary can be saved from destruction only by America, as the United States is the only powerful country which has not been a party to the immoral secret treaties upon which the claimants of Hungarian territories are pressing their claims," Eugene Pivany of Cleveland, O., secretary of the Hungarian-American Federation, told the committee when it resumed its hearings on the treaty of Versailles.

In voicing our protest against the proposed partition of Hungary as contrary to the demands of justice and incompatible with the requirements of a just and lasting peace, we ask the Senate to refuse to have our country become a party to the spoliation of a civilized nation."

TWO SUITS FACE AUTOIST AS RESULT OF COLLISION

William W. Norcross, Jr. of Watertown has been sued for $5,000 by Earl Crawford of Framingham as minor, who sues through his mother, Katherine P. Crawford of Framingham.

He alleges that on October 26, 1918, while riding in an automobile in Wellesley, he was injured when the defendant's car collided with the one he was in. Norcross has also been sued for $2,000 by Freeman Foster of Framingham, who seeks to recover for the damage done to his car in the collision.

NEW SHOW HAND CAUGHT WITH COMPANY'S MONEY

Rutland, Vt. Sept. 2.—Frank Smith, aged twenty-three, a woodsman from Portland, Me., who joined the Joseph Hodge Carnival Shows at that city, was arrested at the station here with a black case full of silver and bills, as he was about to board a train for Boston. In the case was several hundred dollars which had been paid for admissions.

It is charged that Smith broke open the treasurer's trunk. He told the police that he felt blue and discouraged, as he was only paid $2 a day and was forced to feed himself.

DORCHESTER YOUTH ENDS LIFE WITH GAS

Oswald M. Dahl, eighteen, committed suicide during the night by inhaling illuminating gas in his room at No. 148 Millet street, Dorchester. His body was found early today by Andrew Tannick of the same address, who was attracted by the odor emanating therefrom. He was employed by Bruner of that district, who called for Medical Examiner Leary. The youth's father is Ole Dahl, and lives at No. 24 Woodrow Avenue, Dorchester.

OIL BILL IS BEFORE THE MEXICAN SENATE

Mexico City, Sept. 2.—The oil bill, amended to exclude foreign owned property from government confiscation, was scheduled to come up in the Senate for debate today. There is much comment in political circles over President Carranza's address at the opening of Congress, in which he declared Mexico is not willing to enter the League of Nations, and reiterated his declaration that Mexico would not recognize the Monroe Doctrine.

BABY IN MOTHER'S ARMS INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Lawrence, Sept. 2.—With her nine-months-old baby in her arms, Mary Jambon, aged thirty, and Rose Calfalda, aged fourteen, both of Thornton avenue, Methuen, were thrown from a buggy in which they were riding near their home here when an automobile collided with the vehicle near the bend of a road.

All three received injuries. The police were immediately notified of the accident. The driver of the machine took the injured persons to the Lawrence General Hospital.

Millions of Germs

Breed in Tooth Film—Keep It Off

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Film Wrecks the Teeth

THAT slimy film which you feel with your tongue causes most tooth troubles. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. In crevices and elsewhere that film clings. That is why your brushing fails to keep teeth white, free from decay, clean and safe.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So all these troubles have been increasing despite the wide use of the tooth brush.

Dental science, after years of search, has found a film combatant. Able authorities have amply proved this by careful clinical tests. Leading dentists everywhere now urge its daily use.

The method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we offer a 10-Day Tube free now to everyone for home tests.

See the Results, Then Decide

The results of Pepsodent are quickly apparent. Some are instant. We ask you to see them—watch them ten days—then decide for yourself about them.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless, activating method. The inventor has been granted patents by five governments already. It is that invention which makes possible this efficient film combatant.

'RED TERROR' IS DENOUNCED BY MUSSOLINI

Noted Italian Leader Says That Soviets and Not Entente Are Throttling New Republics

By G. MUSSOLINI.

(Once the leader of the Revolutionary Party in Italy, Mussolini is now the pioneer of the new spirit in the peninsula, tending to direct the masses into the natural channel of progress by evolution and not by violence or revolution.)

(Written for Universal Service.)

Rome, Sept. 2—It has been said that the Entente nations are "strangling the republics in order to replace kings on their lost thrones." This is not true.

The temporary rule of Archduke Joseph of Hapsburg as head of the Hungarian government cannot be imputed to the Entente. A return of the Magyars to monarchical regime is not improbable, but what is altogether impossible is a return of the communists to power.

Austria is not a Republican country and Vienna is Republican only on the surface. The victory of the Entente had smashed the thrones and scattered the monarchs. Republics have sprung up everywhere in their stead, but Bolshevism has done its best to strangle them and it succeeded for a time in Hungary. The first republic to fall inglorionsly is the Magyar Republic based on soviet rule.

The attitude of the Entente toward the Hungarian soviets has been, as usual, inconsistent, slow, etc., but not at all sealing the liberty of the people. At one moment the Entente was even disposed to recognize Bela Kun's government. The cause of the downfall of his government must be sought in internal trouble. The Bela Kun government was not in accord with the conscience of the people.

Hungarian Bolshevism, like its Russian brother, has done nothing but accumulate disasters and open the way to the restoration of the old regime. If the Austrian republic does not follow the sister republic of Hungary to disaster, it will be due to the merit of Frederick Adler, who has drowned in blood every attempt of communist ideas.

The international congress of Lovers has affirmed that Bolshevism is the opposite of socialism and that by its extreme experiments it is preparing the way for a return of the most ferocious reaction. For the second time in twelve months socialist leaders of all countries have condemned Bolshevism.

BOLSHEVISM CONDEMNED.

Edouard Bernstein, Axelrod (who was also admired as the father of socialism), Henderson, Fritz Adler, one and all, are anti-Bolshevists. Vittorio Tacchetti himself, who at the outbreak of the Russian revolution was elected unanimously vice president of the Central Soviet, and who has witnessed every phase of the Russian and studied every detail of Applied Bolshevism, says: "Bolshevism is the dictatorship of a minority and has led to disorder and ruin. The masses believe that Bolshevism is merely the road to real democratic rule, but such excesses lead only to reaction, to monarchism or a military dictatorship."

Those words of an ardent and seasoned Russian revolutionist should be carefully considered. They indicate that the natural sequel of a Bela Kun is an Archduke Joseph. That after Lenine, a Denikine or a Koltchak will rise and re-establish a Czar. Dictatorship by a minority always paves the way to the dictatorship of the sword.

Europe Needs Long Term Credits in U.S., Says McKenna

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 2.—The immediate need of a comprehensive and minute survey of all of Europe's financial and industrial requirements in which United States banking interests are best situated to take the initisitve, is emphasized in an exclusive interview today with Reginald McKenna, former Chancellor of the Exchequer in the British cabinet and now chairman of the board of directors of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, the world's largest finacial institution.

ELLIOTT & FRY

Reginald McKenna.

Mr. McKenna explained how, unless some European countries are supplied with tools of production on long-time deferred payments, they will soon be in a position where they can no longer buy goods from the United States that are sorely needed on this side of the Atlantic for rehabilitation of other countries. Countries whose credits are similarly vanishing may have the machinery for production, but they cannot get hands upon their industrial feet without immediate supplies of raw materials from the United States on two or three-year credits.

"If nothing is done" said Mr. McKenna, "Europe's recovery will be greatly delayed, while at the same time the United States will lose these countries among her export customers.

"Great Britain is in no position to carry Europe's financial load alone," declared the financier. "But the United States is able to do that. America should realize that in making capital investments or advances she should not expect anything besides the interest for ten years.

"Great Britain advanced capital to all parts of the world, including vast sums for the construction of American railroads, and then awaited slow returns on the investments. But if Great Britain now extends credits or materials for consumption it simply means that we have to rehorrow the money from the United States, making our load heavier.

"There should be a survey of each country's needs separately by experts to determine the amount of capital required for locomotives, tools, machinery and building materials to enable them to get production under full headway.

"Weighing as a question whether a survey of Europe with subsequent advances of capital by the United States should be undertaken by the government or private interests, the former Chancellor said:

"I see no necessity for the government handling the matter. Private interests are capable of doing it, and the ultimate profits should furnish sufficient incentive."

UP TO THE BANKERS.

Asked whether Anglo-American bankers should join hands in such an enterprise, Mr. McKenna replied:

"Since America will pay the piper, I suppose she should call the tune."

Mr. McKenna then was asked how much capital outlay would be required for raw materials and to build up production by manufacturing plants all over Europe. His reply was:

"Much less than generally supposed—much less."

He then was asked to what extent it would be advisable to extend capital for food, and he answered:

"All that is necessary in starving countries."

Mr. McKenna said that Poland had plans for production, but no cotton for the textile industries. The Poles are hungry, he added, but they have sufficient supplies to enable the country to go ahead and quickly to remake payments on loans within a couple of years. But such nations will not recuperate until they are helped, the banker thinks.

"All countries must work hard, produce bountifully and not seek foreign loans merely to stave off heavier taxation," continued Mr. McKenna. He went on to explain that the needs of the different countries vary. In the case of Serbia there is enough food, but machinery is needed. He suggested that the survey show precisely the requirements of each community.

PRINCE SEEKS SEAT IN RUMANIAN PARLIAMENT

London, Sept. 2—It is reported that Prince Carol, who recently renounced his rights to the Rumanian throne, has become a Socialist and will be a candidate for the Rumanian Parliament on the Socialist ticket, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna today. The prince is said to have gone so far as to instigate Socialist agitation among the Rumanian troops. The successor to the Rumanian throne is now Prince Nicholas, brother to Carol.

IRISH CAUSE IS PLACED ON PAR WITH LABOR'S

De Valera Says Treatment They Receive Will Be Test of What War Accomplished

New York, Sept. 2.—"Labor not only understands Ireland, but labor has a special interest in Ireland at this moment. The treatment of Ireland is a test by which it can be discovered whether they who have borne the main brunt of the war have been relieved of the burden that for which they fought is to be achieved or not."

This was the keynote of the address delivered by Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Republic, at a Labor Day celebration of the Central Federated Unions of New York at the Manhattan Casino. The experiences of the laboring class in this country, President de Valera said, should make it easy to understand the struggle of Ireland against the rule of England.

LABOR'S CASE LIKE IRELAND'S.

"On coming here I expected to find a better appreciation of Ireland's cause and the principles involved in it among the working classes than among any other classes in this community," he said. "The analogy between the methods against which you have to contend as a class is bound to open your eyes and enable you to see the same methods in operation against Ireland. The methods of the ascendancy class, whether in politics or economics, are wonderfully alike.

"The same methods for breaking up the solidarity and the co-operation of those whom it is desired to maintain in subjection, the same arousing of suspicions and jealousies, the same cajolery on the one hand or brutality on the other. The same breaking of strong spirits through their family affections, the same use of starvation and cold. In all of men appear to accept that which they would never voluntarily choose, the same propaganda of misrepresentation of aims, the same raising of irrelevant issues, the same raising half-truths and malicious falsehoods, the same catchcries taken up and echoed from mouth to mouth by the unthinking multitude."

WORLD'S WORKERS MUST UNITE.

Only the close co-operation between the working classes of the different nations, President de Valera said, can free the plain people from the mastery of international financiers and their confreres who can only succeed in subjecting the world by keeping the masses of one nation at the throats of the masses of another.

The Republican party at present in political power in Ireland, he said, represents the rights of the Irish laboring classes, and that under the present foreign sway. Every effort to win their rights is sure to be opposed by the "military forces of the British crown." That Ireland is in present enslavement of the masses in Ireland is not a natural product, but imported, he declared.

"Much of what the modern socialist is groping after was already a fact in the social system of Ireland," the ancient clansman was co-proprietor in the land of the clan. His chief, as head of the clan, was a guide and a father, not a master or an exploiter, and it was from that which the working people are striving for, would be nothing in Ireland but a re-establishment."

TEST OF WAR'S RESULTS.

The whole future of the world depends upon the people of America, de Valera concluded, and the Irish question should be a test for the American people by which to judge whether the objects of the war were secured or not. That many in America are hesitant about the United States entering the League of Nations, is not surprising, he said.

"That you are doubtful certainly does not surprise me, and if you were to enter any league of nations, even the fairest, I would regard it as an act of unselfishness, greater even than your entry into the war, an act of unselfishness which I am certain no European nation enjoying your present position would be capable of."

It is important for Americans, however, De Valera adds, to know whether England really wants peace, "really wants a reign of justice or whether in the proposed covenant of the League of Nations her intentions are the same or whether statesmen were mouthing moral sentiments of liberty and the sanctity of agreements at the very moment they were plotting the secret treaties and disposing their military forces throughout the world so that peace might find them in possession of more added territory than in all these vast United States which Lloyd George called high heaven to witness that England had no selfish objects in the war."

CARDINAL MERCIER WILL SAIL TOMORROW

Baltimore, Sept. 2.—Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, coming to America and to Baltimore to visit Cardinal Gibbons, will sail from Brest tomorrow aboard the transport Agamemnon, which is scheduled to dock at New York at noon, September 12.

On Sunday morning, September 14, the Cathedral here will be the scene of a great gathering of the Catholic Hierarchy. The service will be a thanksgiving for peace, and many of the bishops, archbishops and monsignori of this country will attend. Cardinal Mercier will be the celebrant at the Pontifical Mass. Cardinal Gibbons will preside at the service and Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, is expected to preach the sermon.

PARIS THEATRE STRIKE NOW SEEMS INEVITABLE

Paris, Sept. 2.—A theatre strike in Paris seems inevitable. The managers at their meeting decided that if the employes refuse to work at one theatre, all other houses will be closed.

Demands of the theatrical employes of all categories were submitted at the same time, in the form of a document containing 300 pages.

SEES PLOT IN BRITISH UNREST

Directed by Alien Forces Seeking World Anarchy, Says Sydenham

By LORD SYDENHAM.
Written or Universal Service.

London, Sept. 2—I note with thankfulness that the British public is beginning to understand that, behind the prevailing industrial unrest and the strike mania, there are dark forces which, with alien inspiration, are being directed to bring about a red revolution in this country as part of a world anarchial movement.

The program of the Clyde Soviet Committee corresponds closely with that of the subversives in France in 1788, except that the latter, after attaining power, added the deliberate purpose of reducing the French population by massacres.

The coincidence of aims is not accidental. The methods now being employed to induce the people of Britain to accept the revolutionary program are identical. Readers of Mrs. Webster's study of "The French Revolution" will not fail to see the extraordinary resemblance between the situation here today and that which preceded the cataclysm in France. The warning is plain and, if we disregard it, we must be mad.

France had a king ruinously involved to and personally initiating great reforms. We have a government pressing far-reaching reforms at such a feverish speed that time cannot be properly considered. For the subversives here, as it was for those in France, the main task is to corrupt the people, and the means employed, a propaganda of carefully chosen falsehoods, are precisely the same.

In France, as in Petrograd, famine conditions were deliberately created in order to inflame the passions of the people. If direct action by the Triple Alliance could be brought about here, the same results would follow, and this is the object of our subversives.

"Elect men," said Robespierre, "and you will be forever exempt from those burdens which have so far been required of you on the pretext of the needs of the state. Too long have the rich been the sole possessors of happiness. It is time that their possessions should pass into other hands. The castles will be overthrown and all the lands belonging to them will be distributed amongst you in equal portions, etc."

This is the exact language now adopted by the self-constituted "shepherds" of the British people, who are striving every nerve to utilize the great labor organizations as their instruments.

The startling similarity of aims and methods could be carried much further, but I can only refer to one other pregnant fact. The inspiration of the subversives of France came, as Mrs. Webster has shown, directly from Weishaupt, a professor of the University of Ingolstadt, who was the first to adopt the name of Spartacus.

The program of the Clyde Soviet is stated to be copied from "articles drafted by the "German Spartacists' Union." But this program dates back to 1776, when Weishaupt started his "order" with the object of promoting the world revolution which is now being engineered before our eyes.

A great number of owners of manual workers is dimly aware that it is being misled, but it lacks knowledge to counter the wild falsehoods which are being spread, even in country villages. It is the duty of government to see that enlightenment is provided, that our good people shall not be led to disaster by alien agency supported by alien funds, and that the "shepherds" and the "sheep dogs" who are striving to exploit the people in the interests of world anarchy shall be rendered powerless.

SECRET GERMAN TRADE FLEET SUSPECTED

New York Writer Reveals Move of Teutonic Companies to Regain Mercantile Prestige

By Universal Service.

New York, Sept. 2—"Is a secret American-German merchant marine in the making?" asks Henry C. Wiltbank in an article on "hyphenated shipping" in the September issue of the Rudder.

The writer proceeds to show that twelve steamship lines are already operating thirty-one ships with a total gross tonnage of 96,042 from New York to German ports. Of these, fifteen are flying the flag of the United States Shipping Board, seven the American flag, three the Norwegian, two the Swedish, two the Spanish and one the Japanese colors.

"These are many," says the writer, "who believe that the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines are securing new fleets to enable them to begin the battle for the restoration of their pre-war prestige. While Germany by the terms of the peace treaty has been stripped of every ton of ocean shipping in her possession and must even turn over the vessels under construction on her ways and for five years give a large percentage of her vessels sunk in her illegal sea warfare, there are those who believe that she is planning to become the own of an amount estimated at least 6 million gross tons.

"None of this tonnage flies the German flag; it is problematical when it will do so, but it is pointed out that this is a mere matter of detail if the vessels are to be operated by or in behalf of Hamburg and Bremen capital."

The article points out that in England the charge of German penetration has been made in most unqualified form, and quotes the Syren and Shipping of London as follows:

"The secret German fleet is over 500,000 tons and today it flies the American flag. As regards vessels transferred during the war to neutrals, these transfers have not been recognized and some of the ships have already been handed over."

The Rudder article calls attention to the fact that this estimate is in excess of the total tonnage of all the vessels now operating from America to German ports and asks: "Is it to be assumed from the statement of the British publication that Germany controls the tonnage, or any part of the tonnage of the American government?"

Of the lines listed as being engaged in trade between New York and German ports the writer says:

"There is no belief in shipping circles that all of the lines enumerated, or even any sizable proportion of them, are working in the interests of Germany. In fact, the rumors of German penetration have centered about one line, the Kerr Steamship Company."

AMERICANS BUY BIG PLANTS IN EUROPE

(Exclusive Cable to Universal Service and The London Daily Express.)

Geneva, Sept. 2.—An American company has just purchased an important small arms factory at Budapest from Manfred Weiss. The contract was signed at Berne by Herr Kanitz, director of the factory, which is the largest of its type in Central Europe. Its output continues on a war-time scale.

American negotiations for the purchase of the famous Skoda factory have not yet reached completion owing to differences about the price.

The Standard Oil Company is buying up all the Rumanian oil sites.

CANADIAN WAR HEROES LAND IN BOSTON

102 Officers From Several Battle Fronts Return on Leyland Liner Bohemia

One hundred and two Canadian officers, representing every branch of the service, and from every theatre of war, arrived on the Leyland Line steamship Bohemia, which docked today. Captain Hiscoe was in charge of the ship, and Lieutenant-colonel F. W. G. Anderson of the officers.

The latter included infantry and artillery officers, airmen, engineers, medical officers and foresters. They had seen fighting on the French front, in Russia, the Balkans, Mesopotamia and Palestine. Most of them were decorated and many were one or more wound stripes.

One of the most distinguished in this respect was Captain A. E. R. Turner of Hamilton, Ont., who had received three wounds in battle in the Ypres sector and one at the Somme. He left home with the First Canadian Infantry as a lance corporal and was commissioned lieutenant in May, 1915, when he received his second wound. He was later with the 50th Infantry in the Somme sector, where he received his present commission.

Major R. W. Brock of Vancouver, who had been in Palestine, spoke in the highest praise of the work of the American Red Cross there. Their hospitals were the best, he said, and no work was too dangerous for them to undertake. They were frequently aided at by Bedouins armed with German mausers, but they followed the fighting line to the front. They also did much work among the natives and refugees.

Major Brock praised also the Zionists for work in their special field.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. E. Beauchamp, who was head of the medical unit rendered to the French army by Laval University of Montreal, also returned today. He served for four years with the French army on all fronts.

The group took a special afternoon train for Montreal, where they will be mustered out of service. They were met at the pier by a large number of former comrades-in-arms. Canadian service men now resident in Boston. It was noticeable that nearly all the group, in spite of several high ranks, were very young men.

MISS IRENE HINES TO MARRY VETERAN

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Irene Hines of No. 204 West Eighth street, South Boston, and Lieutenant Joseph J. Hurley of Dorchester, who saw service overseas. Miss Hines is a sister of Lieutenant Paul Hines, who gained fame with the 26th Division in France. She is well known in church and social circles.

BROOKLINE LEGION TO HAVE NEW HOME SOON

Brookline Post No. 11, American Legion, will take possession of its new quarters in the Taylor house, Harvard and Pierce streets, Brookline, soon, and the officers of the organization are considering plans for a formal dedication to take place, probably, Armistice Night, November 11, when town officials and army and navy officials will be guests. Alterations to the building, it is estimated, will cost about $2,000.

Chauffeur Hit by Auto

Newport, Sept. 2—Just as he was being placed on the operating table at the Newport Hospital, James Johnson of Fall River died following an accident on Ocean avenue. He was a chauffeur employed by Jerome Borden of Fall River, and was riding a bicycle without lights, when struck by an auto owned by Miss Evelyn Burden and driven by Martin Joyce.

4 WIVES CHARGE DESERTION AND CRUELTY

Start Divorce Suits in Middlesex County Court at Cambridge

Four disillusioned wives seek matrimonial discharges in Middlesex County Divorce Court at Cambridge.

Mrs. Frances S. Harvey of Winchester seeks divorce from Fred R. Harvey of parts unknown, charging cruel and abusive treatment and desertion. She also seeks to resume her maiden name of Frances Shepard MacRae. They were married in Winchester in 1913.

Mrs. Margaret A. Hughes of Somerville seeks divorce from Hazen Hughes of Somerville, charging cruel and abusive treatment. They were married in Canada in 1910.

Mrs. Ruth P. Anderson of Pepperell seeks divorce from Clarence F. Anderson of Groton, charging that Clarence deserted her.

Mrs. Elinor G. Harris of Lowell charges that her husband, William Harris of Lowell, did not support her and did treat her in a cruel and abusive manner. She wants a divorce and custody of a minor child. They were married in Lowell in 1903, and have since lived in that city and Newburyport.

MAN AND WIFE GO TO DEATH IN LAST EMBRACE

Unable to Free Woman Caught in Rail, Husband Clasps Her as Train Crashes Into Them

Chicago, Sept. 2.—How William Fitch Tanner, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad cashier, and his wife went to their death, locked in a last embrace, beneath the wheels of a Chicago & Northwestern train at Hinsdale station was told told before a coroner's jury today.

The couple were crossing the tracks when Mrs. Tanner's foot became caught between the wooden sidewalk and a rail. The husband stooped to extricate it as the train came in sight. A score of persons screamed as Tanner worked frantically to free his wife, and John Miller, a flagman, leaped to his assistance. In the blinding glare of the engine's headlight they worked desperately, but in vain.

Then Tanner stood up and clasped his wife in his arms and together they waited. A second later the engine was on them. Miller jumped, but too late, and he was struck by the engine and hurled forty feet. He suffered the loss of a leg, a broken arm and other injuries, but has a chance for life, physicians say.

Wooden Water Pipes of 1776 Are Found in Devonshire Street

Wooden water pipes, crumbling with age and long usage, which served the Devonshire street section of Boston with water from the stirring times of the revolution to the Boston fire of 1872, have been unearthed by Carl Anderson while installing high water pressure pipes. Although the pipes have not been in use since the rebuilding of that section of the city which was devastated by the fire, they still are in fairly good condition.

Close beside one old pipe were found two pennies, of the coinage of 1803 and 1841. The oldest of the coins is in almost perfect condition despite the 116 years since it came from the mint. The fraction 1-100 is on the back of the coin.

BOY SHOOTS CHUM WHILE PLAYING WITH REVOLVER

Swanton, Vt., Sept. 2.—While the two were playing with a revolver James Ross accidentally shot his playmate, Henry Brow, aged sixteen, and the latter is in St. Albans Hospital in a serious condition. He has only a slight chance of recovery.

Ross was so affected by the mishap that he has not yet been able to give details as to how it happened.

U. S. TANK SHIP TERRORIZED BY MUTINEERS

Captain and Wife Beaten and Locked Up by Three Drunken Sailors

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 2.—A lurid tale of mutiny on the high seas is involved in the case of John Cody, Gerald Lynch and Mike Connell, who were today retrined for trial at the Dorset assizes, charged with insubordination on the American tank ship Marisha in mid-Atlantic. The three men were members of the crew of the tanker, which was bound from Baltimore.

It is charged that the men broke open the cargo of alcohol and, after drinking themselves into a frenzy, threatened to raise the red flag. The captain of the ship and his wife were chased all over the vessel by the mutineers, finally knocked down and confined in their cabin.

The Marisha was picked up by another vessel and taken to port.

GIRL'S SKULL FRACTURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Tilton, N. H., Sept. 2.—Alice Hammar of Concord, thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hammar, was injured when her father's car upset. She was taken to the Franklin Hospital. She sustained a fractured skull. Her mother escaped with minor injuries. The accident happened in Andover.

Government Control of Monopolies

Excess Profits, Incomes and Inheritances Should be Heavily Taxed

(From the report on "Social Reconstruction: A General Review of the Problems and Survey of Remedies" issued by the National Catholic War Council)

After enumerating other reasons why the present social system needs improvement, the report states that one of the most serious evils is "the excessive gains by a small minority of privileged capitalists". For this evil, the report declares that "the main remedies are prevention of monopolistic control of commodities, adequate government regulation of such public service monopolies as will remain under private operation, and heavy taxation of incomes, excess profits and inheritances.

Monopoly Invites Oppression

The precise methods by which genuine competition may be restored and maintained among businesses that are naturally competitive, cannot be discussed here; but the principle is clear that human beings cannot be trusted with the immense opportunities for oppression and extortion that go with the possession of monopoly power.

That the owners of public service monopolies should be restricted by law to a fair or average return on their actual investment, has long been a recognized principle of the courts, the legislatures, and public opinion.

Exceptional Ability Should Be Rewarded

It is a principle which should be applied to competitive enterprises likewise, with the qualification that something more than the average rate of return should be allowed to men who exhibit exceptional efficiency. However, good public policy, as well as equity, demands that these exceptional business men share the fruits of their efficiency with the consumer in the form of lower prices.

The man who utilizes his ability to produce cheaper than his competitors for the purpose of exacting from the public as high a price for his product as is necessary for the least efficient business man, is a menace rather than a benefit to industry and society."

Copies of the complete Reconstruction Program issued by the Committee on Special War Activities, National Catholic War Council, 1312 Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D. C., will be supplied free on application.

MAN AND WIFE HURT WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Plymouth, Sept. 2.—The automobiles of Davis Ramsdell of East Weymouth and Arthur Petit of Plymouth collided on a blind corner on the Carver road, five miles out of Plymouth, near Clear Pond.

The cars were overturned. Lemuch Petit was thrown from the rear seat through the windshield, cutting his face badly and knocking out several teeth. He and his wife, Delmar are in the Jordan Hospital, she suffering internal injuries. Arthur Petit and wife were unhurt. No one was injured in the Ramsdell car.

Bolshevism 'Socialist Shimmy'

New York, Sept. 2.—"Bolshevism is Socialism doing the shimmy," declared W. J. Noble, an American Federation of Labor lawyer.

"Gets-It" Peels Your Corns Right Off

Two Drops Will Do It Without Pain or Trouble. Never Fails.

There's only one way to get rid of a corn, and that is to peel it off as you would a banana skin. There is only one corn remover in all the world that does it that way, and that is "Gets-It." It is because of this fact that "Gets-It" is today the biggest seller among corn-removers on this planet. If your corns hurt, don't fuss—fiddling. For hard corns, soft corns, very old corns, young corns, corns between the toes and calluses, it means a quick, certain finish. "Gets-It" is applied in 2 or 3 seconds. All you need is 2 or 3 drops. As easy to do as signing your name. It does away forever with tape, plasters, bandages, knives, corn-diggers, scissors, files and blood-bringing razors. Ease your corn-pains, be corn-free at last.

"Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

There's No Corn "Gets-It" Will Not 'Get.'

FOSS DECLARES COOLIDGE USED 'CAMOUFLAGE'

Says Governor Dodged Issue on Government Ownership of Utilities

Governor Coolidge's Labor Day address at Plymouth was ridiculed as "a series of glittering generalities and meaningless platitudes" by former Governor Eugene Noble Foss today.

In an address at the Thomas G. Plant Shoe Factory at Jamaica Plain Mr. Foss made exceedingly merry with the latest message of yesterday to the workers.

"He moralizes well," declared Mr. Foss. "But he fails to reach down to the causes of this unrest among the working people of the country. What solution does he offer?

"Why should we not pass laws requiring owners of big storage plants to reveal daily the quantities of food being held back? It is not enough for federal officials to take a hand in this situation. States should help.

"I called upon Governor Coolidge a month ago to hold the Legislature, until the vexing transportation question was settled. Everybody was disappointed when the Governor pushed the thing aside and created a commonwealth efficiency commission for further investigation when this whole question was clearly understood by the whole people.

"In fact, the testimony that has thus far appeared before this commission is practically unanimous in favor of public ownership. But I did not see a word along those lines in Governor Coolidge's speech."

PROHIBITION PARTY MAY TAKE NEW NAME

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Whether the prohibition party is to be kept alive for solution of problems other than that of drying up the remaining wet spots of the world is the question that stirred members of the party as they gathered today for the final session of their convention here. It already has been decided the party is to remain intact with a national party through the 1920 campaign. The National Commission is considering a change of name for the party. Some seem to think an organization with such a title as "prohibition" would not have a chance of being taken seriously after having accomplished its purpose of making the country dry.

MAY ORDER RENTS IN LAWRENCE CUT DOWN

Lawrence, Sept. 2.—The State Commission on the Necessaries of Life today will upon a number of Lawrence landlords to reduce their rents as a result of an investigation conducted here during the past month by State Officer Richard P. Griffin. He had made his report to that body to the effect that increases here ran as high as 66 2-3 per cent. in many instances.

The officer stated that he found no signs of conspiracy among the landlords to boost the rents. General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the commission, is now considering the report.

THOMAS B. SWEENEY'S FUNERAL TOMORROW

Mr. Sweeney, who was well known in financial circles, was born in St. John, N. B., thirty-eight years ago. He was a member of the Exchange Club, Engineers' Club and the New York City Bankers' Club. He is survived by his widow, his mother and one daughter.

FIRST COPY OF LIFE OF M'CORMACK TO PELLETIER

District Attorney Pelletier is showing with great pride the first book off the press containing the life of John McCormack, the flyleaf, which bears the following inscription:

"My dear Joe—Here is the life of your friend. You were one of the first to welcome me to this land of my adoption, and I feel sure you will be interested. Don't think any less of me, old pal, when you know my true story as herein related. Warmest greetings and hearty congratulations on your recent papal decoration."

PUPILS IN CONCORD SCHOOLS NUMBER 1,200

Concord, Sept. 2.—With an estimated enrolment of about 1200 pupils, including 375 high school students, the public schools opened here this morning. This registration is about the same as that of a year ago. Pupils from Acton, Boxboro, Carlisle and Lincoln, in which towns the schools began their new school year today, attend the Concord High School. Few changes have been made this Summer in the teaching staff. Superintendent Hall announces that a dental clinic will probably be opened in the local schools in October.

LODGE SCORED BY OWEN FOR OPPOSING LEAGUE

Stony Brook, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Senator Lodge's Americanism was attacked and he was accused of leading, in the world's greatest crisis in history, a narrow, partisan fight.

The attack was launched by United States Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who made a plea for ratification of the League of Nations covenant in an address before the League of Nations Association.

PERSHING WILL LEAD PARADE IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 2.—General John J. Pershing will lead the gallant First Division down Fifth avenue on September 10, the division's staff officials announced. Every general who commanded the division from the time it started for France will be in line and the doughboys will march in full equipment.

PIGEON SAVED MANY LIVES IN U. S. ARMY

Bruce E. Griggs, an American reporter, has returned to the staff of this paper after fifteen months service in the army, during which time he became an expert on carrier pigeons. Mr. Griggs trained and bred the pigeons while in the signal corps, instructed other men in their care, and after the signing of the armistice had charge of selling nearly 2,000 birds, all of which had been used overseas.

Today he told the following story about one of the army pigeons:

"'Diablo,' of the A. E. F., was some soldier, despite the fact that for a uniform he wore a coat of black feathers and tipped the scales but a bit over twelve ounces. "Diablo," whose official name is "U. S. A. 17-4427," is a black carrier pigeon who has the honor of having saved an hour and a half time for his entire army. Until yesterday he was a member of the pigeon section of the Signal Corps.

DIABLO NEVER SHIRKED.

"Corporal William Hamilton, in charge of the loft which for more than a year was home to 'Diablo,' returned recently from Coblenz, Germany, bringing 500 of the birds with him. Corporal Hamilton said:

"On the morning that we started to bust Old Man Hindenburg's unbustable line, 'Diablo' was put into a basket and aboard one of the tanks that were to lead off in the surprise attack. We hated to do it, for he was one of the best birds we had on the front. He never loafed on the way with messages and always trapped in as soon as he got home. However, he had to go, for being the only means of communication the tanks had with headquarters the birds that went out had to be the dependable ones who had proven themselves. Anyway those tanks were no rougher on the birds than on the men.

"At 4 o'clock one morning we were awakened by an orderly from headquarters by an order to put the birds aboard each of the tanks. So crashing out from between the blankets we rubbed the sleep from our eyes and went to work.

"It was gray dawn when the tanks, throwing up their trail of blue smoke, started off. By the schedule they were given until 9 in the morning to reach their objective. At 9 the rest of the army were to move forward over the ground the tanks had cleared. Then the busting of the unbustable was to start in earnest.

"After the tanks left we settled down for the wait until 9 o'clock. About this time we expected the first bird in with the message that the tanks had done their work. The message would be rushed to headquarters on the motorcycle.

"At 7:30 we had just finished breakfast and fed and watered the loft.

"LOOKED LIKE THE DEVIL."

"That galoonie, Diablo just trapped with a message.' Doc yelled. Doc was inside on watch. We reached in and took the little piece of aluminum from his leg. It stated that the tanks had reached their point, starting with less resistance than they had expected, but that the enemy artillery was getting their range and that unless reinforcements were brought forward at once, they would have to fall back and retake the ground later. Then followed the approximate range of the German artillery.

"We burned the message to headquarters in record time and then things began to happen. In about three minutes our artillery was hammering hell out of the Jerries. Shortly after that everybody began to move.

"The French who used to hang around the loft gave the bird his name. They said he looked like the devil, which in French is Diable, and the name stuck.

"Diable is a good bird in spite of his name. He saved many a life that morning, for if the tanks had been forced to fall back we would have lost all the advantage of the surprise attack and when it came to recapturing the ground the Germans would have been ready to give us a warm reception."

ATTWILL BOOMS CANDIDATE HITCHCOCK

Former Attorney-General Declares Assistant Eminently Fitted for Office

Henry A. Attwill, who recently resigned the office of Attorney-General to become a member of the Public Service Commission, in a letter to William H. Hitchcock, assistant Attorney-General, declares the latter is qualified by knowledge and experience to discharge the duties of the higher office most creditably. Mr. Hitchcock is a candidate for the office of District Attorney. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Hitchcock—In leaving office of attorney-general I want to convey to you my appreciation for your loyal, painstaking, conscientious and able assistance to me during our four and one-half years of association. It is with keen regret that I sever our relations.

"In your decision to be a candidate to succeed me you are actuated by the knowledge that you possess the ability and the experience to discharge the duties of the office most ably and creditably.

"While I feel it would be inappropriate for me to take an active part in the campaign, you may be assured that my good wishes are with you, and that I feel in your success the Commonwealth will be the gainer."

$15,000 FIRE DAMAGE IN MACARONI PLANT

Fire in the plant of the Acadian Macaroni Company, No. 240 Sumner street, East Boston, caused $15,000 damage. The building is of six stories and the blaze gave the firemen a battle of over an hour before it was extinguished.

SLAYERS SAFE HERE CLAIMS LUNDY

Candidate Bitterly Arraigns Pelletier's Conduct of Office as District Attorney

"Nowhere in the world is a murderer as secure from adequate punishment as on Suffolk County, under the administration of District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier."

This was the direct charge with which a bitter arraignment of Mr. Pelletier's fitness was launched today by Attorney Joseph Lundy, candidate for the Republican nomination for the office. The attack was made at Mr. Lundy's first rally in Faneuil Hall.

Mr. Pelletier's Republican opponent made pointed reference to the recent trial of the alleged slayers of Patrolman Daniel Desmidgert as a result of which, he said, "the life of a policeman in this community is not safe."

Continuing to flay the present incumbent for the outcome of the famous case, he said: "Desmidgert is dead. Barney lives. He is serving no more time than if he had committed a first-class highway robbery. Mr. Pelletier should be rejected on the result of that case alone.

"The state was well tried in the newspapers while the defendants in this case lay in jail. That is to say, all but Barney lay in jail, for he made a brief excursion over the prison wall to see his mother and buy a straw hat. "An indictment for murder in the first degree in this county has come to mean nothing to the accused but a stay in jail until the prosecutor has passed the case, accepts a plea satisfactory to the defendant or after a period of unwarranted delay presents the case to a jury for a verdict in a lesser degree.

"Mr. Pelletier's record of prosecution of murders by deliberate profes-

Conry Calls Dry Dock Delay Worst Case of "Slackerism"

In an open letter sent to every member of the Legislature, Joseph A. Conry, a candidate for Attorney-General, advises all to be on the lookout during the special session in November for the claim of the contractor for work on the South Boston dry dock, which he believes may amount to $1,000,000.

Referring to this dock as "the most conspicuous case of slackerism in Massachusetts," Mr. Conry asserts:

"The dock should have been completed August 15, 1918. It was 97 per cent. finished. The contractor refused to complete the contract, he so eagerly sought and so bitterly fought to get. Then when the Navy Yard commission has been compelled to advertise for new bids to finish the contract work on the cofferdam he refuses to do. Men were dodged over the draft from positions offered to ex-workers. The work on the dry dock contract is the most conspicuous case of slackerism in Massachusetts.

"No State declares that no war taxes are necessary, that no money is needed from the Legislature it elected. The state dock, after the $1,000,000 or $1,500,000 liquidation damages for failure to complete the work on time, is costing the state $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 which the Navy Department has to pay for the completion of the dock and deducted that Massachusetts pays this money as one bushel of dollars of assessment to the Boston & Maine, New Haven and Boston Main road, which have dwindled $60,000,000 in value.

INSTALL MEMORIAL WINDOW FOR HEROES

North Adams, Sept. 2.—In memory of members of the church who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War, a memorial and pastoral memorial window is to be installed in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. No definite date has yet been set for the consecration of the window.

SEEK $20,000 IN THREE AUTOMOBILE ACTIONS

As the result of automobile accidents, three damage suits for a total of $20,000 have been brought in Middlesex Superior Court. Ernest Wattrath of Waltham has been awarded $5,000 by George Carlisi of Boston, a minor, who was struck by the latter's automobile. Mrs. Rosaria Carisi, Fred Fedimino of Medford has been awarded $5,000 by Harry Breon of Melrose, who alleges that on December 1 said he was hurt when the defendant's auto collided with an electric car in which he was riding. Joseph Lynch, administrator of the estate of Daniel Emery of Lowell, brings suit for $10,000 against Ira Harris of Lowell, alleging that Mr. Emery died of injuries received when he was struck by the defendant's automobile on May 12 of this year.

GEORGE R. CANTY IS PETERS' NEW SECRETARY

Receives Many Congratulations as He Takes Office at City Hall

Mayor Peters' new secretary, George R. Canty, took office today at City Hall amid promises of co-operation which seemed heaped on his desk. Mayor Peters called to wish his aid, like his predecessor, Edward G. Moore. Mr. Canty has a record of executive service.

The new secretary is thirty years of age, a native of the town of Natick. He is a graduate of the Boston Latin school and of Boston University. He attended the public schools of Boston, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Boston University.

He formerly was employed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, and from there was transferred to Brooklyn navy yard, where he was chief clerk of the industrial relations section. He was also secretary and treasurer of the National League of Municipal Employees, and was secretary of the executive board of the United States Employees' Industrial Association.

He left Brooklyn to come to secretaryship of Congressman Hudson Peters, and when the latter was appointed to the Naval Aviation Forces, he was attached to the navy and assigned to duty in the naval operations section at French headquarters.

Canty is now transferred to the United States naval station at Pontanezen, England. He was assigned to the Boston district by Peters, and has returned to this country and resumed his work for Congressman Hudson Peters, who is expected to become secretary to the Mayor.

Is Backache Wearing You Out?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

DOES any little exertion leave you tired and worn? Do you feel weak, nervous, "all unstrung?" Do you suffer daily backache, dizziness, and sick headache? You shouldn't! Too many folks drag along day in and day out, thus handicapped. And too often they overlook the kidneys which are likely at fault. Weak kidneys cause many queer aches, pains and kidney irregularities.

But, if taken in time, kidney ills are usually easily corrected. Neglected, even a slight kidney weakness may turn into gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Don't wait! You owe it to yourself to get well and to stay well. Use Doan's Kidney Pills! Doan's have brought thousands of weak, tired, discouraged people back to health. Boston folks tell the story. Ask Your Neighbor!

These are Boston Cases:

BARTLETT STREET

C. A. Hofmann, foreman of picture frame company, 114 Bartlett St., gave the following statement on July 14, 1913. "Being on my feet continually caused weakness in my back that was very painful and annoying. I thought my kidneys needed attention, and as Doan's Kidney Pills were strongly recommended, I began their use. I didn't have to take this medicine long before I was quickly relieved of all trouble. This experience leads me to have strong faith in this remedy, and I highly recommend it."

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S

On February 4, 1919, Mr. Hofmann said: "I have the same good words for Doan's Kidney Pills as I had when I first endorsed them. I heartily recommend this medicine to other kidney sufferers."

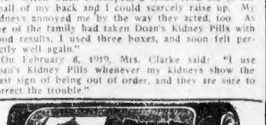
WARREN AVENUE

Miss G. Dennett, 105 Warren Ave., says: "My kidneys were in bad condition. I felt run down, and I was greatly inconvenienced and distressed by the irregular action of my kidneys. My back was weak and lame. Doan's Kidney Pills, used as directed, relieved all signs of the trouble in a short time. I gladly recommend this medicine to other sufferers from kidney trouble, for I know it is worthy of a trial."

W. BROOKLINE STREET

Mrs. H. B. Clarke, 85 W. Brookline St., gave the following account of her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, March 6, 1917: "Some years ago I was down with my back. It was lame and sore and I felt miserable. Often when I stooped, a stitch took me in the small of my back and I could scarcely raise up. My kidneys annoyed me by the way they acted, too. As one of the family had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, I used three boxes, and soon felt perfectly well again."

On February 4, 1919, Mrs. Clarke said: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills whenever my kidneys show the least sign of being out of order, and they are sure to correct the trouble."



MEDFORD COURT

James F. McCarthy, 1 Medford court, says: "I was suffering with my kidneys and had backache. At night I had to get up several times to pass the kidney secretions. My back was weak and lame. My work had a lot to do with the trouble, and stooping or lifting was all the harder when my back was lame. I got Doan's Kidney Pills, and the first box relieved me. My kidneys became normal and my back was strengthened."

W. SPRINGFIELD STREET

W. S. Kelton, 433 W. Springfield St., says: "I know there is nothing better for kidney trouble than Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys caused me to suffer considerably and I was crippled up with pains across my back so I couldn't straighten up. It was hard for me to get about. My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions were at times too free in passage, and then again, they were scanty. I used about six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and my kidneys were put in good shape, the aches and pains left my back, and I felt like a different person."

NO package of Doan's Kidney Pills is genuine unless it bears the maple-leaf trade-mark and the signature—"James Doan."

"MIRACLE MAN" IS GRIPPING FILM PLAY

Artistically remodelled and redecorated and under new management, the Park Theatre was filled yesterday with an enthusiastic audience to see the first production of the Paramount film of George M. Cohan's masterpiece, "The Miracle Man."

As a spoken drama, "The Miracle Man" charmed thousands of persons all over the country who saw it. Picturized, it has lost none of its dramatic value but has gained much. Cohan's theme of the power of faith to heal, especially opportune at this time here, as a result of the recent visit of a well-known faith healer, has been broadened in several places.

From Chinatown to the simple little village of Fairhope, the changing scenes are triumphs of the photographic art. Ferdinand Pinney Earle is responsible for the art direction of the film and he has brought into the settings of the story a wonderful collection of contrasting scenes of beauty and squalor.

There is a human interest grip to the story which compels the skeptic and the believer in faith healing alike. The machinations of a band of New York crooks, led by "Tom the Shark," exceptionally well played by Thomas Meighan, to whom faith and ideals are merely subjects for joking, are finally overcome by the mystic power exerted by the blind Patriarch, as the Miracle Man is known.

An attempt by Tom the Shark and the gang to use the deaf and dumb and almost blind simple old man into being a lure for the gain of the gang is the means of the change of scene to the little village. "The Frog," a fake cripple, portrayed in vivid style by Lon Chaney, appears at the Patriarch's feet and stages a "cure."

This attracts a crippled lad and a paralyzed girl and it develops that the healer's faith is genuine and cures are effected. Then begins the battle of the Patriarch against the gang in an effort to win them back to the straight and narrow path until success finally crowns his efforts and the Shark, last of the band, wins his fight for decency and honor as the venerable Patriarch passes to his reward.

Betty Compton gives a masterly presentation of Rose, the Shark's accomplice in evil ways, gradually transforming into a clean, straight girl after she had slipped into the depths. J. M. Dumont plays the character part of "The Dope" true to life, even to the marvelous transformation that occurs when he renounces the drug for a clean little country girl.

The character of the Patriarch is admirably filled by Joseph J. Dowling. With but slight gestures and a reserve of facial expression he embodies with beautiful dignity a nature of serenity and strength and affords a perfect balance to the entire story.

"The Miracle Man" is a combined triumph of histrionic and photographic arts.

CARNIVAL WEEK AT REVERE BEACH

This is Carnival Week at Revere Beach, where a long list of amusements will hold sway for the remainder of the week. Important of these will be the daily exhibitions of daring flying stunts by "death-defying" aviators, men who have seen service in the war. The exhibitions will be given by the same men that thrilled thousands of spectators at Nantasket Beach for the past six weeks. Exhibitions will be given daily at 5, 7 and 10:30 p. m. There will be shown a thrilling air battle between two battleplanes, one a German machine and the other an American; a hair-raising parachute drop from a speeding plane at an altitude of 4,000 feet and a nightly bombing raid on the beach. Every amusement place will be wide open during the week.

Other Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Good, clean, snappy entertainment of vaudeville and and photoplays was shown yesterday at Leon's Orpheum Theatre, and keenly appreciated by large holiday crowds. Jean Leighton's revue topped the vaudeville. This act is one of the best seen here this season and is composed of a company of eight clever people, who offered an attractive variety of original songs and dances. Other good acts on the bill included Laurie Ordway, a character comedienne par excellence; Steve Freda, guitarist; La Rue and Gresham in a screamingly funny playlet; Lynch and Weston and others. Olive Thomas is shown in her newest photoplay, "Upstairs and Down." Miss Thomas appeared in the important part of the "baby" vampire.

MODERN AND BEACON THEATRES—Under the new policy of the Modern and Beacon Theatres, the management offers this week two notable productions. Elsie Ferguson in "The Witness for the Defense" and Wallace Reid in "The Valley of the Giants." These two well-known stars need no introduction to the film loving public and the talent released come up to all expectations. These two films are of exceptional merit and together make a highly attractive invitation to view these theatres under their new policy.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The large crowds which attended the St. James Theatre yesterday witnessed a wonderful vaudeville and motion picture program including Elinor Glyn's sensational story, "The Career of Katherine Bush," a dramatic story showing the high life of London society, and starring the well-known actress Catherine Calvert.

GAYETY THEATRE—Frank Hunter, the comedian with "The Best Show in Town," which opened at the Gayety Theatre yesterday for a week's engagement, played to two large audiences that he is one of the cleverest men on the burlesque stage. The show live up to its name in every way. It is brand new and the scenery superb, one of its big features.

WALDRON'S CASINO—The attraction for the week at Waldron's Casino is Dave Marion's Own Company, with Mr. Marion himself in the featured role. Mr. Marion has provided a production this season superior to any of his previous efforts. The scenery is from the studios of P. Dodd Ackerman and the costumes are original and daring.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—Real holiday crowds visited Loew's Columbia Theatre, South End, yesterday and thoroughly enjoyed the bills of photoplays and vaudeville. The daily change of program is still in popular vogue at this theatre. The program for the week will be Viola Dana in "Some Bride," and Carlyle Blackwell in "Hitting the Trail." For Wednesday and Thursday there will appear Marguerite Clark in "Come Out of the Kitchen" and Dorothy Dalton in "Lady of Red Butte."

GLOBE THEATRE—Two of the foremost screen artists, Olive Thomas and June Elvidge in their newest photoplays, comprise the bill for the first three days of this week at Loew's Globe theatre. The crowds that witnessed the showings of both these productions yesterday evidenced their immense popularity. Miss Thomas appears in "Upstairs and Down," a former stage success.

MALDEN AUDITORIUM — The Tempis Stock Company at the Malden Auditorium gives new performances yesterday afternoon and evening of "The Shadow," the current bill for this week, that ranks with the equal of any Broadway production. The efforts of this popular organization were amply repaid with two enthusiastic and capacity audiences, who applauded every individual member of the company. The play was put on with a masterly touch and each player acquitted himself or herself with distinction. "The Shadow" is a drama of tense emotions and human appeal. Its dialogue is bright and breezy while its action moves at a spirited gait. Miss Adelyn Bushnell gives an admirable portrayal of the leading feminine role, the part created by Miss Ethel Barrymore. Dwight Meade appeared in the role of the hero and gave an excellent performance.

"Kiss Me," a musical farce in one act and two scenes, the music, lyrics and staging all by William B. Friedlander, heads the bill at Keith's this week.

The topline act, "Kiss Me," has a cast of five principals and eight chorus girls and is well staged and the girls well gowned. The plot is certainly not new to any movie patron as it is one frequently worked. It concerns the gay young nephew with the rich old aunt threatening him with a visit and demanding to see his wife and three children. This has used as an excuse to get money out of her.

Ethel Corcoran plays the leading feminine role, while Harry Meyers is the nephew. Both have pleasing voices and render in excellent style the title song of the act. Isabel Winlock played the part of the aunt well, and Dorothea Sadlier, in a daring gown and a vampire role, showed considerable ability.

As Georgie Jessel uses a number also used by Coral Melnotte and Edna Leedom, the latter deserving of a good position on the bill, were forced to appear as the second act after opening, but despite this handicap they put their songs and comedy over in finished style and were well received.

Georgie Jessel had a lot of good comedy, including a funny telephone conversation, but he never should attempt the serious with and sing a mother song, not with his style. His movie scenario stopped the show for a few moments.

Mlle Diane, the French Chanteuse, supported by Jos Rubini, the young Swedish violin virtuoso, with Salvatore at the piano, gave a very pleasing entertainment. The young man is a talented violinist and rendered a difficult program in a masterly style. His partner, Mlle Diane, captivated with her French songs in true Anna Held manner. The act is not a new one to this house.

Other acts on the bill were: "The Dancing Kennedys," a pair of gifted "jazz" performers; Duval & Symonds in "Their First Quarrel"; Jack Ryan and Ed Healy in a new repertoire of song hits and the Rinaldo Brothers in their act. The house is crowded at the Standing Room Only sign early in the evening.

COLONIAL SQUARE THEATRE—"The Girl from Alaska," featuring Lottie Kruse, is the headline and first run photoplay presented yesterday at the popular Colonial Square theatre, Dorchester. The production tells a gripping human story, with the rolling scenes of the production photographed on Alaskan soil. In fact this is the one and only photoplay made in the far North. Charles Chaplin is also shown, in "Sunnyside."

Plays That Remain

ARLINGTON THEATRE—The new season of John Craig and Mary Young at the Arlington Theatre has opened under the most favorable circumstances. Their new play, "Prisoner of the World," is attracting no little attention for its novelty and its combination of sensation and humor, and it is notably well acted by Mr. Craig, Miss Young, Charles Dalton, Rose Caghan and the other members of the specially engaged company. Matinee performances are given Wednesdays and Saturdays, and it will be continued on the Arlington Theatre stage until further notice.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The second big week of "The Right to Happiness" began yesterday at the Majestic Theatre, and from all indications this gripping drama of social and labor conditions, with its interwoven love stories, will have a long and successful run in Boston.

TREMONT TEMPLE—"Daddy Long Legs"—and needless to mention, Mary Pickford—continues to draw huge throngs twice daily to Tremont Temple. This charming screen version of Jean Webster's novel of childhood and girlhood romance started on its twelfth week in Boston yesterday afternoon, and its popularity has not abated one bit, nor is it likely to.

THREE DECORATIONS FOR STOUGHTON HERO

The Italian military cross was bestowed on Private Battista Margalis in the Stoughton Town Hall by Chevalier L. Melano Rossi, vice-consul, on behalf of the Italian government, with exercises witnessed by hundreds of townspeople. General Edwards also conferred two decorations for bravery upon the young private in behalf of the United States. The Italian decoration was given for bravery beyond the call of duty in volunteering to go to a liaison officer under direct and violent machine-gun fire seventy-five meters distant.

NORUMBEGA PARK—This week is the final one of the Summer season for this well known pleasure resort on the Charles River. The theatre for the closing week, Manager Bennett has engaged an all-star vaudeville program ending with a feature picture which will be a treat to be remembered until next Summer. Edna Frances Simmons and her talent orchestra, together with many other attractions at this beautiful park, will continue to delight the hundreds who daily visit this woodland resort.

WANT PERSHING TO PLAN NEW PEACE ARMY

Congressmen Will Request the General to Give His Views Before Military Committees

(By Universal Service.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Legislation to put America's army on a peace footing awaits the return of General John J. Pershing.

The Senate and House Committees on Military Affairs will not submit recommendations as to the total numbers of officers and men to constitute the new army or amount of money to support it until the Commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces is permitted to give his views.

TO BE REQUESTED AT ONCE.

This conclusion has been reached by James W. Wadsworth, Jr., and Julius Kahn, chairman, respectively, of the Senate and House committees.

General Pershing will be formally requested immediately on his return to the United States, for which he has sailed aboard the Leviathan, to tell-cate a date on which it will be most convenient for him to tell the committees what the size and equipment of the peace regiments shall be.

He will be asked specifically if he prefers the formation of an army with a total strength of 576,000, as advocated by Secretary of War Baker and General March, Chief of Staff, or one of 275,000 only, as urged by Chairmen Wadsworth and Kahn.

The commander of the overseas American forces will also be requested to tell as to whether he will indorse the Chamberlain-Kahn bill, creating the smaller army and making universal training methods feeders in case of actual war.

PLANES MIGHT BE NEEDED.

General Pershing will also be requested to examine the Dent act, eliminating business departments from the army, increasing salaries, and also providing for universal training.

A feature of General Pershing's appearance will be a series of interrogations as to why a million dollars' worth of American aeroplanes were destroyed in France.

It is maintained by many that should France become involved again in the war he might need these planes, or America might require them if intervention in approved, compelling her to rush to the rescue of France.

The War Department maintains that the planes burned were commercial junk. That no fighting planes were destroyed; that not now complete observation and training planes were reduced to cinders.

General Pershing has yet to tell the story as to who ordered the destruction of these planes, and why.

COURT MUST DEFINE 'EVANGELICAL' IN WILL CASE

Mansfield, Ohio, Sept. 2—By the terms of the will of Miss Susan M. Sturges, who died in this city two years ago, the bulk of her estate of over $100,000 was left in trust to the Evangelical churches of this city. The heirs are now asking the court to define "Evangelical." Different ministers are being called to the witness stand to interpret the meaning. Miss Sturges did not designate the churches, but specified each church was to appoint seven members, none of whom swear, use tobacco or intoxicants. The seven members from each Evangelical church are to meet and elect a board of seven to administer the trust. The money is to be used for philanthropic purposes.

TWO INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILE OVERTURNS

Dominic Ciotti, thirty-one, and Michael DiMaso, twenty-three, both of No. 1 Glen Rock avenue, Malden, are at the City Hospital, suffering from injuries received when their automobile overturned at the New Haven tracks on Summer street, near Melcher street, South Boston, early today. Ciotti has a wound on the left shoulder and DiMaso contusions and abrasions of the head.

SIGHT SEA SERPENT; IMMUNE TO BULLETS

Reno, Nev., Sept. 2.—Doubt not the authenticity of this, for the nation went dry long since.

Four hunters report a sea serpent 85 feet long in Ypramid Lake, largest of fresh water body west of the Great Lakes. It has huge fins and a serpent's tail, comes to the surface of the water and dives, and its hide is impregnable to bullets.

The hunters who shot the animal but who report it dived after being hit unhurt, are J. S. Neff, Mike Nagy, W. J. Neff and M. Glen. They were camping on the shore of the lake when the monster was first sighted, they said.

Grand Total of 45 Shown on Boxboro School Register

Boxboro, Sept. 2—This town probably has the smallest number of school children in Middlesex County, for when the public schools opened this morning there were enrolled less than half a hundred pupils. William H. Millington, superintendent of schools, stated that he expected the registration will total about forty-five, nearly the same as last year. The high school pupils of this town attend the Concord High School, there being no high school here.

JUVENILE HIGHWAYMAN GETS ONLY 10 CENTS

Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 2—Running home wild-eyed and excited, with beads of sweat standing on his forehead, Lewis Nye, the eleven-year-old son of Mrs. J. E. Nye, shouted excitedly to his mother:

"I was held up and barely escaped getting killed."

"Did you deliver my parcel to the postoffice?" queried his mother.

"Yes," replied Lewis, "but while I was going there I was held up by a boy about twelve years old, who had a brick in his hand. He took a dime away from me and said he would kill me if I told anybody he held me up."

Mrs. Nye telephoned the police. They are looking for the twelve-year-old highwayman.

Hundred Club to Hold Last Dance of Season at Nahant Tomorrow Night

Frank Gardner Hale and Charles Yosteyn Manney are traveling in Canada now. They have been in Marblehead most of the Summer.

CHARGE OFFICER WAS INVOLVED IN THEFT

Policeman Seen Running From Drug Store, Is Claim

Charges that a police officer with his coat on his arm and carrying his revolver in his hand was seen running away from the drug store of Clark and Mahoney at Saratoga and Moore streets, East Boston, the night that a robbery was discovered in the store are being investigated by Captain James F. Hickey of police station 1.

Bills to the amount of eighteen to twenty dollars were stolen, after a pane of glass had been broken in the door, it is said, by a man who heard the glass break rushed to the scene and that a revolver was discovered in the store are being investigated by Captain James F. Hickey of police station 1.

ARREST EX-SOLDIERS FOR ASSAULT IN LYNN

Walter Harnden and Stephen F. Morgan, ex-soldiers, were arrested by the Lynn police today charged with assault on Thomas Niland and Harry Young, a colored man. Young is in serious condition at the Lynn Hospital. The trouble followed a shooting on Chatham street and Western avenue.

Niland, driver of a milk wagon, claims that the two approached him fairly today and asked him for milk. Refused, he says they attacked him and then smashed several bottles of milk. Young, attracted by Niland's cries for help, went to his assistance and also was beaten. Sergeant Walter Blood and Patrolman Vinnard gave chase and arrested the ex-service men.

NO WIGGLY DANCES ALLOWED IN DALLAS

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 2—Miss Alecia Brown, public welfare director, has put her stamp of disapproval on the shimmy, caterpillar wiggle, jelly bean and straphanger dances. She declares they are vulgar and obscene and has notified dance hall managers that they will be prosecuted if they permit such "wriggling" on their premises. Miss Brown declares that the shimmy and other objectionable dances are practiced more in the homes of society folks in Dallas than in the dance halls, and says there should be some means to reach these people and stop dances which make the body shake like a bowl of jelly.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL TO BE COMPLETED THIS YEAR

Washington, Sept. 2—The Lincoln Memorial in Potomac Park in this city will be completed this year, army engineer officials in charge of the construction stated today.

A grove of trees will be planted around the memorial in honor of soldiers, sailors and marines who lost their lives in action in the World War. It was announced also. Trees will be allotted in honor of individuals and communities.

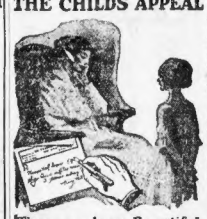
Mother, Why Don't You Take Nuxated Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All The Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother and She Was Worse Off Than You are and Now She Looks Just Fine.

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD LOOKING WOMEN IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILDS APPEAL



"There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."
F. KING, M. D.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful healthy rosy cheeked women full of Life, Vim and Vitality

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy cheeked women without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author. "I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron, nuxated iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Pallor means anemia. The skin of the anaemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby, the muscles lack tone, brain fags and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks.

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked are responsible for another great source of loss.

"Therefore, you should supply the iron deficiency in your food by taking some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

"I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe, aggravated conditions with surprising results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of resorting themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages there are probably thousands who might readily build up their red corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us.

It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it.

Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking. Just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form, and thus after they had in some cases been ailing on for months without getting benefit from anything. But don't take the old forms of poisonous iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red-coloring matter in the blood of her children, is blood; not that kind of iron. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

Many an athlete and prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance while others from not having plenty of iron in the blood, while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says that Physicians should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Anaemia—iron deficiency is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Women—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron, which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach, and in many cases do more harm than good; advises use of only Nuxated Iron.

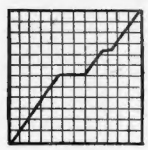
How the Crown Prince treats his wife

Princess Cecile was a wonderful child. She had all the charm that Russian parentage and French culture could give her. She inherited an intense hatred for Germany and then, against her will, she was forced to marry the German Crown Prince.

What has happened since then is told by one of her closest friends, Princess Radziwill. It is one of the most astounding chapters of court life ever published.

Paris and the winter fashions

Know the right fashions and avoid costly mistakes. Good Housekeeping for September contains more Fashions than it has ever before published in one issue. Not the freaks of Fashion but the new, wearable, clothes of distinction. One article tells where to find the latest styles and the fair price to pay. Another, gives the dressmaking points in the newest clothes. A third tells what is latest in corsets, shoes and gloves. 90 illustrations feature this complete department.



43 Ways to fight the H. C. of L.

Concerning the general work of the home, Good Housekeeping gives 43 distinct ways to fight the higher cost of living. Every one of the ideas has been actually tried, tested and found practical. They'll save not only money but time, friction, worry and effort. As an added feature appear the tested menus and directions for four complete dinners. And Good Housekeeping, too, serves as a guaranteed buying guide for household equipment to fill every possible need.

RUTH OUT FOR 25TH HOMER

Babe Has Chance to Tie Record at Expense of Old Team Mate, Carl Mays

"Babe" Ruth has his chance to make his twenty-fifth home run, and incidentally tie the record, off the pitching of his old side partner Carl Mays, who is listed to pitch first game in Boston since he stirred up the whole American League by signing with the Yankees. Exactly how the batterer will fare against the submarine delivery was a matter of much speculation among the fans, who are strongly pulling for a local slugger.

The Yankees have been traveling at a rapid pace of late and arrived in Boston with a string of eight straight victories to their credit. And what caused Manager Barrow to figure the foemen had just about played out their string and that Herb Pennock was just the boy to stop them.

Rain today put off the scheduled games and the fans will [illegible] a double header tomorrow and will surely attract a banner crowd, as every fan in New England is anxious to be present when Babe steps on the record.

SLOW FIELD AIDS SOX.

Slow field conditions were mainly responsible for the Red Sox triumph in the first game on the Polo Ground in which Ruth was kicked for four rather small smashes by the Senators, but most of them fell dead when they hit the soil, but one going for more than a single.

Then, too, the Washington runners were unable to get proper start, and the heavy condition of the base paths was directly responsible for Judge being caught at the plate in the seventh inning, though both must be given credit for having made a perfect throw in from centre field Menosky's foolish attempt to steal third base in the ninth with no one down also cost the visitors one and perhaps more runs.

The Red Sox means of winning [illegible] was gathered in the second inning on a walk by Roth, a three-bagger by Ruth and a single by Schang.

Allen Russell's superior pitching was the basis for Boston's second victory of the day. Not a Washington player reached first base, for the eighth Rowe[illegible] in attempting to knock down a drive by Leonard and this hit went for a single, when if it had been allowed to go through it would have offered an easy chance for Scott.

HURT RUSSELL.

The blow didn't do Russell's pitching hand any good either, for later in this session he issued his only pass of the game in the seventh. He was hit for a single and a double which gave the Griffmen their only run of the game.

By the eighth Russell was fully recovered and in this inning and the ninth he sent the visitors down in order.

The Sox's first run was made in the fifth inning on a single, a steal and a two-bagger. In the seventh the Babe, with Roth leaning around second, knocked lifted the ball into the bleachers for his twenty-fourth homer of the season, winning the game just for good measure. Molesis doubled and Gainer, who was put in to run after Huffy sprang a [illegible] injury, ambling to third on Schang's out, scored on Shannon's single.

How to Play Baseball

"This is the eighty-sixth of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." These articles will be a feature of the American's sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Until a baseball player learns to study the stage of the game and make his plays accordingly he is not a winning player. A play which is a wonderful one at one stage of the game may be wretched judgment in another. An extreme instance is that of a college team which, beaten 16 to 0, in the ninth inning managed to get the first batter to first base and his successor sacrificed.

The question of how many runs are to be made frequently is settled by the hungry, but there are scores of pays which must be decided instantly by an outfielder or infielder. In one junior league game an outfielder crossed the man to steal, of course, lessens the chance of a force out at second, but enables the entire team to play deep and pay all attention to the batter making the chances three to one at least against the ball batters driving home the run.

The attacking team, more than the defensive one, should play the stages of the game. Remember that it is easier to steal a base during a batting rally or when the pitcher is pitching to a hard hitter, than it is in a fight race or when the pitcher is not worried.

A player is just fool in taking chances on the bases when the team is not able to hit the pitching pitcher which he would not take in a free hitting game until the later stages when a single run means a great deal.

A daring play frequently is permissible with two out in an inning and one or two strikes on a good hitter when would be inexcusable if a weak hitter is at bat. If a runner can reach second with a good batter on by easy seuts, but even if he fails the batter will be certain of the strike penalties and open the next inning. A strong hitting man is head off as winning frequently is a great help.

SHIPPING BOARD NINE BLANKS COAST DEFENCE

In a contest played as the feature attraction at the first annual outing of the American Legion, at Wood Island Park Charley Lombardo turned back the Coast Defence nine in a pretty game, holding the soldiers to a solitary bingle and but one man reaching second base.

FANS LET BABE KNOW HOW HE IS REGARDED

There have been many popular ball players who have worn Boston uniforms, there have been numerous celebrations of their achievements in the days that are gone, but it is to be doubted if any single man, not even excepting the immortal "King" Kelly, ever stood higher in the estimation of the baseball loving people of this city or was more enthusiastically applauded than was "Babe" Ruth when he batted out his twenty-fourth home run in the second game of the double-header with the Senators.

It was by no means an ag[illegible]spiring wallop, the ball just [illegible] the low fence which separates the twenty-five cent seats from the [illegible] field near the right field foul line, but it was executed before 10,000 fans [illegible] any one of the former [illegible] roughly approximated.

The cheering lasted for several minutes after the hit had been accomplished, and when Babe took the field after the Red Sox score reached the applause recommenced. From the third base bleachers [illegible] themselves hoarse and when they subsided their fellows in the pavilion gave echo. In many ways it is a good more like a college football game than a big league baseball contest. When the ball is hit [illegible] the crowd rushed on the field, but, [illegible] Ruth on the shoulders, carried him in triumph to the dugout. Content, some of the more ardent souls waited around for more than a half hour to see the [illegible] me out of the dressing room. His automobile appeared from [illegible] the grandstand, literally covered with small boys and fans who desired years all seeking to be [illegible] know, by the medium of print or the [illegible] just how much he stood in their interest.

COX SCORES DOUBLE VICTORY AT HARTFORD

Hartford, Sept. 2—Walter Cox scored two victories for the champion day of the Hartford County League of the Charter Oak Trotting Park. SPRINTER BILL HAYES HEADED FOR DARTMOUTH

Bill Hayes of Springfield, the best college sprinter of the 1919 season, while running for Notre Dame, probably will enter some New England college this Fall, no matter [illegible] riding that college a chance to [illegible] competition. Big leaning now [illegible] Dartmouth.

TONEY IN MOUND DUEL WITH DEMAREE

Nehf Stopped Braves in Holiday Contest; Fielding Was Spectacular

Manager [illegible] admitted that the giants have any right to [illegible] the Braves, even though the New York pennant chasers did put it into his pitching ace, Richard Rudolph in his holiday game [illegible] Demaree, who once [illegible] looks as big as a half dozen did last April, figured Fred Toney as the hurler who would give the Bostonians enough trouble to avert a New York disaster.

In the snappiest holiday game of the season the Giants nosed out ahead of the Boston Braves, 3 to 2, before the start the spectators were on [illegible] There were no idle moments and no lessening of interest in the contest.

NEHF HALTS BRAVES.

Art Nehf appeared to have his former team mates tamed, with the exception of Leslie Mann, who managed [illegible] for a home run. Nehf, [illegible] did a little slamming himself, for his two hits one was a two-bagger.

The game was featured by some spectacular fielding. To Mann is given credit for the most improbable catch, but he has also chalked up on his account the most improbable error.

The fielding of the Boston team [illegible] keep down the Giants' score. Mann was particularly [illegible] home in that respect. He grabbed a short left lifted out by Ross Young with his fingers tips, spun around a few times on the top of his head and came to, lying on the grass with the ball still clutched in his hands. All conceded that ordinarily it would have been a hit.

BOECKEL THERE, TOO.

Boeckel cheated Fletcher out of a hit by another seemingly impossible play, also in the first inning.

Nehf, in the third, pulled a rough trick on his old teammate, Dick Rudolph. After pulling out a two-bagger Art was nailed at third when he [illegible] and [illegible] served [illegible] poke by Burns. Young got to first when Hoike tried to beat him to the bag.

The fifth was one of the liveliest innings Mann, it was, who started the excitement by pulling a bunt into right field. Meranville flied out to right and Groudy then lifted one to left center. It looked like a sure three-bagger, if not a home run, but Young spoiled the day for Hank by leisurely reaching over his shoulder and rescuing the pill.

MANN'S GORGEOUS SLIDE.

It was in the last half of the fifth that Mann became eligible to the Brown Derby. He chased a long fly by Fletcher, but let the ball slip out of his glove, allowing the batter to reach second. Zimmerman then delivered a hard drive, which scored Fletcher and gave the lead to the Giants.

There was some argument as to the justice in calling Jim Thorpe out in the seventh when after a hit to right he reached second about simultaneously with the throw and did not put a protest in writing, either.

It was in this inning that Fletcher, by going to second, did what proved to be the winning run.

LEAPS FOR LIFE FROM BLAZING AUTO RACER

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 2—Tommy Milton, driving a Duesenburg machine, [illegible] automobile classic on the Speedway here, had a close call with death as he was leading the field by three laps with only seven laps to go to victory when his car caught fire, forcing him to dive headlong from the machine to safe him life.

He was badly burnt and sustained several bruises and cuts about his shoulders and legs while his [illegible] chance. If Kearney, an [illegible] injured by the jump. The machine was completely destroyed the car [illegible] track blazing for about fifteen minutes, the other cars dashing through the dense smoke. His car caught fire on account of an overheated engine.

Joe Boyer in a Frontenac [illegible] won the race, traveling the distance in 2:24.19. Boyer carries in a Duesenburg, was second in 2:25.49 and Louis Chevrolet, in a Frontenac, captured third honors in 2:26.58.

TAD'S TIDBITS

WHEN CORBETT FIRST MET THE BULL

Met Jim Corbett on the street the other day in his Rockitt's blue limousine. "Say," piped Jim, "I meant to tell you about that Jack Burke guy you had a story on some time ago. You know that stuff that Eddie Graney told you was right. That guy Burke surely did bull the newspapers the night we fought.

"You know I was twenty years old when I boxed him. Burke was an Eastern star and came to Frisco to show the natives what great fighters they had in the East. He had just fought Sullivan and was to box me. It was an eight-round go for $300 and I got nothing.

"I didn't expect to win, you know. I thought I'd be lucky if I stayed the limit with him. At the start I was very ragy and stayed away from him. Then about the fourth round I started to go and found that he was sort of punk. In the sixth, I swung one to his jaw and nearly knocked his block off. I used to swing in those days.

"Well, in the last two rounds I kept his head bobbing with jabs and did almost as I pleased. When the bell rang at the end of the eighth round I went to my corner and was shaking hands with my seconds.

"We all thought that I had won by a mile.

"You know the winner usually walks over to the loser and shakes his hand.

"Can you imagine my surprise when Burke walked over to my corner with a smile and patted me on the head saying: 'Corbett, you're a pretty fair boy. With a little more experience you'll be a first-class man.'

"Then he gave a dinner to the newspapermen and bulled them to death.

"You know that guy nearly made me quit the ring. He just bulled everyone and everything in sight and they all swallowed it."

Jem Mace's Last Days

Here's an interesting note taken from the Sydney Referee:

Mr. Robert Clements of Arundel street, Forest Lodge, writes: "Being a regular reader of your notes on boxing in the Referee, I peruse with interest your references to champions of other days and countries. You often refer to one in particular, Jem Mace. I will write a little about his last days, which may interest some of your readers. This is as I saw them, and know them to be true. Jem's last year on this planet was spent in North of England. He traveled around the fairs and market places with a boxing booth. Although his name was in front of the show, also paintings of some of his fights, the tent belonged to a showman. He had nothing only what he got from the showman and sports. Every town or city they went to they held a boxing competition for local boys, and the winner had to spar with Jem Mace for two rounds. His age was always announced as seventy-nine years, but he was a well respected. His clean appearance was most noticeable. He was dressed in a long black coat, a high silk hat, a starched collar, and was clean shaved. I saw his funeral. It was attended by many prominent sportsmen. He was only sick a few days. He died near Newcastle-on-Tyne, and is buried in Monkton Cemetery, Jarrow-on-Tyne, England.

Jim Coffroth's Close Call

Every kid likes to fight, said Jim Coffroth yesterday. "When I was nineteen I thought that Jack McAuliffe was a hick. I'd rather battle than eat in those days. One day in 'Frisco I was with Tom Graham. He wasn't a judge then, get me? On Kearney street there was quite a crowd and I happened to bump into a fellow. He pushed me back, then I did the same to him, and right away the old fireworks started. Say, he closed one of my eyes, had my mouth cut and my head was so big I couldn't get it inside of a pork barrel. I was swinging while this other fellow kept popping me with straight left."

"Who was the other guy? Oh, I was going to tell you, it was George Green. Remember him? Later he fought Walcott, Al Neil and Martin Duffy.

"But he didn't win your fight, eh?" we asked.

"No!" piped Coffroth. "It was won by Judge Graham."

"How did Judge Graham win?" we asked again.

"Oh, he bat Green with a brick," piped Coffroth. "That's the only thing that would stop him."

Dempsey Now on the Road

Jack Kearns hit the old typewriter for a two-bagger letter the other day. Here is what Dempsey's manager says, in part:

"We are playing the week of the 24th in Detroit, at the Opera House; the week of the 31st at the Colonial Theatre, Chicago, and the week of September 8 at Philadelphia at the Walton Hotel; and then, I believe, we come into New York for two weeks; then around through Boston, Buffalo and up through Canada. I don't know the exact route at this time, but the promoters of this show claim that they will surpass any box office attraction that has ever been on the road, including Harry Lauder and all the big stars.

"Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks are trying to interest me in having Dempsey take a picture with the three of them, tit title to be 'The Three Champions.'

"As an actor Dempsey has made a wonderful hit, and he seems to be going over well. He does a monologue in evening dress and then goes into his fighting costume and does shadow boxing and punches the bag and boxes three rounds, and winds up the show by demonstrating the blows and knockdowns with which he defeated Jess Willard."

MOUNT HOPE A. A. NINE BLANKS HAWLEY FOLSOM

The Mount Hope A. A. nine defeated the Hawley Folsom team at the Washington street playground, Mount Hope, 1 to 0. In the eighth inning W. Travers walked, stole second and scored on Gafney's single. Pitcher Mahoney of the Mount Hope team struck out fourteen batsmen. The score:

TITLE TENNIS MATCH HELD UP BY RAIN

Johnston and Tilden to Settle Supremacy on the Courts Tomorrow

Forest Hills, L. I., Sept. 2—The championship [illegible] between William M. Johnston of California and William T. Tilden of Philadelphia for the national singles title will be played tomorrow [illegible] at 1 o'clock. Officials of the West Side Tennis Club here postponed the match shortly after noon today when a heavy rain poured on the courts.

McGOORTY AND BECKETT MEET TONIGHT

Eddie McGoorty, the American light heavyweight, who is to box Heavyweight Champion Jess Beckett, the Britisher, in London this evening, is expected to come through a handy winner over the best that England can produce in the fighting line in the heavy division.

Naturally Beckett is the favorite in the betting in London [illegible] American money so strikingly that before the men enter the ring the Yankee may carry most of the coin.

Many who have seen Beckett box figure McGoorty will stop him within [illegible] rounds the bout is scheduled to go.

The British titleholder is a tough [illegible] fellow, but knows little of the fine points of the game.

All he does is [illegible] and should be just to the liking of Americans who ought to score [illegible] to win and also have a [illegible] to flatten his opponent.

Getting a decision over an English fighter is a [illegible] proposition, so McGoorty has announced that he will make every effort to stand a sleep producing mallop.

Even should he win by a knockout, or on points, McGoorty will not lift the British championship [illegible] honor is hooked about with a [illegible] wall, which makes it impossible for any one not a British subject to win it.

THREE EVENTS ON RACING CARD AT WORCESTER

Worcester, Sept. 2—Three even a [illegible] card [illegible] pace, the 2.14 pace and the three-year-old trot—gave promise of some excellent racing.

The feature race of the [illegible] day, the free-for-all pace, was won by Baxter Lou in straight heats. Swank Volo had won the opening 2.15 trot, while the 2.20 pace resulted in a straight heat victory for Hum D a newcomer to the circuit.

2.14 pace—Baron Hal, Maxie Volo, Miss Key, Elfine Wonder, Del Rea, Amy, Dr. Tom, Ardele, The Irish Lad.

2.05 pace—Irish Voter, Bellinardine, Tom Donohue, Forest McKinny, Edna Dale, Betty Pearl, Ashdown.

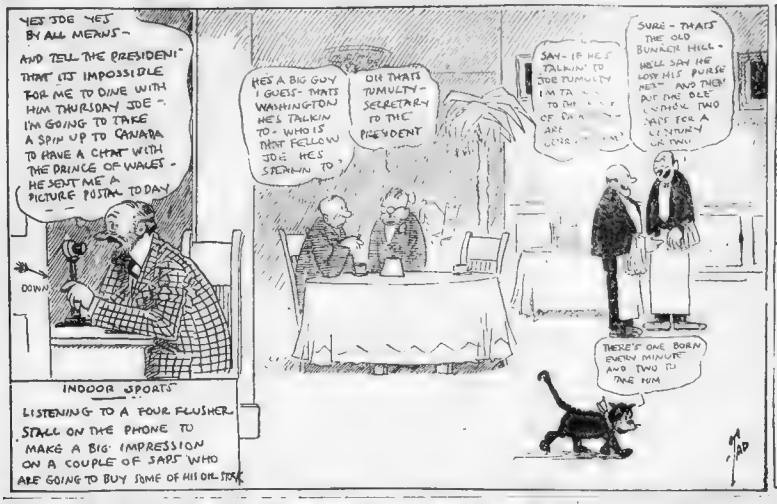
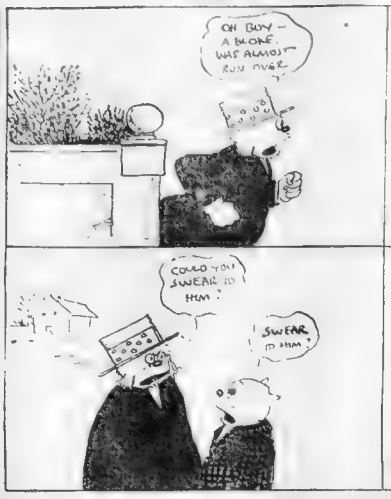
Swearing No Good





HERMAN LOSES TO LYNCH ON POINTS

Waterbury, Ct., Sept. 2—Joe Lynch outpointed Pete Herman, bantamweight champion, in eight rounds of their ten-round bout here. The match was supposed to be for the championship but Lynch was a pound over weight, so the mill lost its titular significance.

Bombarding the champion with a fusillade of rights and lefts to the jaw and abdomen in the first two rounds, the New York boy removed whatever aggressiveness the champion had in him and placed him on the defensive for the rest of the fight. Herman showed his only championship quality on the defensive, and it must be said of him that he did some of it a bad beating by clever blocking.

MEDAL TO HERMAN.

If Jess Willard was the unpopular heavyweight champion Pete Herman, if the crowd which saw him box can be used as a basis for judging his popularity, takes the medal away from Joss and gives the brown derby with it. As Pete stepped to his corner after each round he was greeted with a round of jeers from the 10,000 spectators. The jeering continued until Herman fought his way into the fracas as the town dust of the battle settled.

The last eight rounds saw Lynch always on the offensive and succeeding in getting a rise out of the champion only when he landed one of the stinging blows he evidenced he has in his makeup.

HERMAN WARNED.

There were times when Herman did take his hands down from in front of his jaw for other reasons than to protect his abdomen, and then he succeeded in hurting Lynch. Four of the worst blows struck by Herman reached Lynch's abdomen, and Referee Dave Fitzgerald warned Herman about hitting low after the delivery of each one.

The first and fourth rounds might be called even; the other rounds going to Lynch. The fans were treated to a fight which had to be stopped by a policeman. Herman's seconds charged that Lynch's seconds were inserting a piece of metal in Lynch's glove. It looked like a "free for all" fight for a time.

MIKE O'DOWD SCORES OVER TED "KID" LEWIS

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 2—Mike O'Dowd, the world's mild-weight champion, won a point decision over Ted "Kid" Lewis in a sizzling ten-round bout before 4,000 persons at the Syracuse Arena. It was a gruelee fight from first round and the fans saw more action crowded into the ten rounds than any battle staged here in three years.

Lewis started off strong and won the first three rounds but beginning with the fourth round O'Dowd forced his way to the front and won the last seven rounds.

Brady-Tuohey Draw

Portland, Me., Sept. 2—Tommy Tuohey of Paterson, N. J., and Ralph Brady of Syracuse, N. Y., fought a double six at the Exposition building. Tuohey had a shade on Brady, but the decision was a draw.

Adair Outpointed

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 2—Mel Keegan of Brooklyn had an easy time outpointing Barney Adair in their ten round fight at Springbrook Park.

Victory for Ashe

Montreal, Que., Sept. 2—George Ashe of Philadelphia won a fast ten-round bout from Eugene Bresseau here last night.

"TWO AND THREE"

"PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER"

WITH "BUGS" BAER

HOOVER chirps that whale meat will reduce the cost of living. Simple Simon had the same idea when he went fishing in a bucket.

WHALE meat will make a big difference in table manners. We'd hate to be within touring distance of a boarding house when a bunch of bowlegged, crosseyed boarders started throwing harpoons at the main dish.

THE first bird to try whale meat was Jonah. He took a whole order. This will be rather too much for the average married man whose bank account is too anaemic to withstand the rigors of our northern climate. The best way to break into the whale menu is to order a few tons as a starter and then gradually work up to the climax. It's a neat, but not gaudy dish. You can tell when you've had enough when you start to spout.

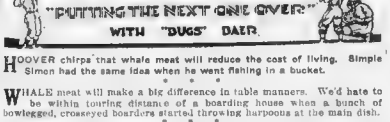
OWING to the size of the orthodox whale, the standard brand of policemen's and firemen's suspenders are slated for some terrific strain when the waif sends the old man down to the market for a fish.



THERE has always been a robust argument as to whether a whale was an animal or a fish. Scientists label the wild whale a mammal, which is enough to make anybody wild. But, then, scientists are a bunch of birds who spend their afternoons chasing butterflies and picking buttercups. If a guy is that cooooo in the daytime, we like to think what he does at night. The whale has a thick coat of fat on his frame which protects him from horseflies who think he is an animal and from waterbugs who think he is a fish. The whale ain't sure what he is himself, but he ain't taking any chances.

WHEN we start scoffing whale blubber in habit forming quantities, the aquarium will be the farmers' market.

THE public isn't taking much interest in the bumper crop of whale chow. It's merely something else to be overcharged for. The profiteers don't know whether the whale is an animal or not, but they do know the public is a fish. That's the situation in a nutshell. The only thing you ever found in a nutshell was a nut.

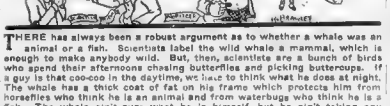
IN addition to his blubber the whale's dome is solid bone, which is very valuable. A lot of skulls are built the same way, but the whale is the only bird who makes it pay. You can also shake down a hundred barrels of oil from a big whale, which is about ninety-nine more than is necessary to capitalize a Texas oil company with $10,000,000 worth of stock. There isn't much difference between the two industries except in the method of harpooning the fish.



THE Food Administration is strong for the Hoover idea, and states that future meals without whale cutlets will be like Sousa's Band without the trombones. The only blue note in the whole works is that the recipe for whale chowder is the same for rabbit stew. And a hungry guy can run faster than he can swim.

IT will sure make a waiter plenty angry to get bowlegged carrying a planked whale and then have some wiffle-faced guy tell him to take it back and bring him another. Another boot for the error column is that a whale will last the family almost as long as a leg of mutton. It will be whale chops for breakfast, whale cutlets for lunch, whale soup for dinner, whale croquettes for supper and whale hash for Sunday. Then whale sandwiches for the office lunch bundle. And the average guy would just as soon sprout wool as he would fins.

DUNDEE DEFEATS JACKSON ON POINTS

Jersey City, Sept. 2—Johnny Dundee out-pointed Willie Jackson in an eight-round bout at the Armory A. A.

The attendance was small owing to inclement weather, but those who were there saw a good contest, of which the second round was best. When the gong sounded for the second round Dundee sprang from his corner and rushed at his opponent, forcing the fighting and pasting Jackson all over the ring for nearly two minutes.

Finally Willie caught Dundee on the jaw with a powerful right that made him pause and stopped the attack. Just before entering the ring Dundee tipped the scales at 122½, and Jackson at 127½.

DYSON IS WINNER OVER JACKIE SAUNDERS

New Bedford, Sept. 2—K. O. Bobby Dyson of the local fighting set all the way in the twelve-round bout with Jackie Saunders of San Francisco. Dyson scored a knockdown in the second round. George Kid Lavigne won the decision in the semi-final bout from Johnny Best of Scottdale. Al Thomas knocked out Pete Duchene.

Miller Is Beaten

Rockland, Me., Sept. 2—Young Dealer of Bangor and Joe Chick of Gloucester went twelve rounds to a draw. Charlie Miller of Boston was outpointed by Young Dubey of Lewiston.

K. O. PALITZ TO BOX PAL REID AT C. A. C.

By JACK CONWAY.

There will be an all-star boxing show at the Commercial A. C. tonight. When it was originally booked to look as though the fans would not be able to witness any ring contests during the early part of the week as a result of the Fenway, A. A. and Armory A. A. not holding shows, Bob McKirdy came to bat with the glad tidings that he would stage three ten-round fusses and a six-round go into the ring.

This Day in History—September 2, 1919.

THIS is the anniversary of the surrender of Sedan and the capitulation of Napoleon III. to the invading Germans. The seizure of Alsace and Lorraine by the Prussians never ceased to rankle in the French mind, and its restoration to France was one of the cardinal conditions in the recent victory of the allies.

Wood Sold by the Pound

CIRCASSIAN walnut, a popular wood for furniture, is sold by the pound or ton. As early as 116 B. C. it was introduced into Italy from Persia. The logs are so heavy that they will not float. Only the heart of the wood is used, and it is the crooked, irregular logs that possess the best-figured wood.

PRICE CHANGES MIXED IN BOSTON

Local Market Opens Irregular and Remains So During Forenoon

Stocks were irregular as to price changes when the Boston market reopened and continued so during the morning. Numerous issues showed pronounced later as at the outset, issues to advance the most were United Fruit, U. S. Smelting, Calumet & Arizona, New England Telephone, Swift & Co., Swift International, United Drug first preferred and Punta Alegre. At their highest they were up from one to two points.

Declines were exceptional except in the case of United Drug common and second preferred. They had each receded two points.

The most active issues during the forenoon were United Shoe, Chandler Hill, Parish and Bingham and National Leather. United Shoe was unchanged or fractionally higher in the first hour, while in the second it was a shade lower. Parish and Bingham showed a small loss and National Leather a small gain. Carson Hill sold at the record high of 29 before noon.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Howard C. Rand has become a general partner in the New York, Boston and Chicago stock exchange firm of Lovell & Co.

The South Atlantic National Bank has changed its name to Southern Trust Co. Russell R. Spear, who recently resigned as assistant federal reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, to become vice-president of the Southern Trust Co., will be assisted by James Liddell, for a number of years associated with Lee, Higginson & Company in their foreign exchange department.

U. S. COPPER EXPORTS FOR THREE YEARS

Statistics showing the amount of copper exported from the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, indicate how much European demand decreased after the armistice was signed in November last. They also tell of red metal consumption overseas while the war was in progress. For the fiscal year ended by June, exports totalled 849,816,000 pounds, compared with 231,676,359 for the preceding twelve months and 1,021,193,127 for the twelve months ended June 30, 1917.

During the last year covered by these figures England took the most American copper, with Italy second and France third. During the previous two years France had held first place as a copper buyer in this country.

DELVATEX OIL LANDS COVER 33,000 ACRES

The Delvatex Petroleum Corporation, formerly the Delvatex Petroleum Corporation, has lands totalling more than 33,000 acres in Texas and West Virginia, the Delvatex Petroleum Co. leases in the Mannington district. The Texas holdings are located on the Edwards Plateau, in the southwest part of the Ranger and Burkburnett fields.

The company was a Delaware corporation and is said to represent the entry of du Pont interests into the Texas oil fields. It is headed by Alexander I. du Pont, secretary of the de Nemours Trading Company, and the new Texas Corporation is capitalized at $5,000,000 and Winslow Taylor & Co. are offering 11,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $10, at $8.50 a share.

Buying American Pianos

American pianos are finding a market in South Africa and Australia, where English makes formerly monopolized the field. The high grade British instrument costs more than an equal quality American or Canadian piano, it is said by a prominent English maker. According to the American Chamber of Commerce in London, manufacturers are seeking British Board of Trade protection and this may result in a tariff discrimination against importing pianos into England.

Boston and Maine Earnings

Boston & Maine's July gross decreased $356,177 to $6,018,287, while its net increased $622,320 to $756,178. For seven months gross increased $1,349,454 to $42,244,019 and net increased $1,329,862 to $872,389. As to net, for the corresponding 1918 period there was a deficit of $457,474.

Germans Smuggling Cash

In order to escape taxation, Germans are said to be smuggling money out of their own country into Switzerland, using tourist passports for the purpose. The Frankfurter Zeitung estimates that tourists of this class have taken more than 35,000,000 marks out of Germany.

Cotton Prices Open Higher

New York, Sept. 2.—There was little pressure in the cotton market at the opening but first prices advanced 11 to 21 points mainly on evening up reports of improved local conditions and further reports of rains in the belt. At the end of the fifteen minutes the list was about 15 points above Friday's close. Opening prices were: October, 31.67; December, 31.95; January, 31.99; March, 32.29; May, 32.57; July, 32.12.

OIL ISSUES ARE LEADERS IN TRADING

Crucible Steel and Pan-American Icans Sell at High Record Prices

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York, prices being at their highest for the morning as a rule. Pan American and Crucible sold at record highest prices. Oils were a strong class, figuring as leaders in the advance. The market was active during the forenoon and affected by no reaction. The opening call rate was 6 per cent.

Issues to show the largest gains included Crucible, Pan-American, Texas Company, Mexican Petroleum, Corn Products, Hide & Leather preferred, Sumatra, Atlantic Gulf, Chandler, Studebaker, New York Royal Dutch and U. S. Food Products. They had shown from two to six points advance during the forenoon.

U. S. Steel was up ¾ at 104¼ at 12 o'clock. Its range had been from 103⅝ to 104¾.

On the New York Cotton Exchange ther was a sharp break in prices following the publication of the government condition report. Prices ranged from 30 to 105 points, with December selling off 105 to 31.10, a drop of 105 points, or more than $5 a bale.

STRONG AFTER HOLIDAYS.

After a triple holiday stocks had a strong opening, earliest gains ranging from fractions to full points and with Chandler making the best showing in this respect. Crucible established a new record high price on the first sale. Steels were strong as a group. United States Steel gaining a point at the outset. Industrials and the outside was sufficient to give the market a firm tone. Profit-taking was immediately in evidence a little effect upon the list. At the end of an hour the market was strong. The advance of Mexican Petroleum featured that period, oils taking the lead for activity. Maidenform receded a few points on sell ex-dividend were American Sugar, Keystone Tire, Elkhorn, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Industrial Alcohol.

BANK STATEMENT IMPROVED.

The statement of clearing house banks for last week was more favorable than expected. The gain of $20,000,000 in surplus reserve and causing hope of laxity in money rates in a little later. According to brokers, margin calls have been met with responses indicating that funds are easily obtained. There are many people in the stock market causing more concern, in fact, than the money situation. Recent reactions have forced most weaklings out of the running. Stocks are now strongly held, it is stated, as at any time this year. Crop payments will begin to attract interest shortly, by big buying of stocks in the West. When the exchange reopened sentiment was favorable for an advance of security prices.

U. S. STEEL EMPLOYES AS STOCKHOLDERS

So many of its employes hold its stock that the officers and directors of the United States Steel Corporation have come to believe that the great trust would not strike. Employes were offered U. S. Steel common this year on the basis of $92 a share.

"Nearly $1,000 employes took advantage of the offer," it is stated, "and books of the Steel Corporation show about 78,000 common shareholders of record. This would seem to indicate that in the number of common shareholders of record United States Steel employes dominate to the extent of over 80 per cent. of the total. Questions in how many of these employes who hold stock are in favor of a strike. Many steel employes have been accumulating their preferred and common for the past fifteen years. They are investing a large income from their investments.

"Foreign labor has not favored the profit-sharing plan. They are shareholders of Steel Corporation. The object of 90 per cent. of foreign labor is to return to Europe with their savings. This class of labor is proselyting the rest of the employes to respond to any strike call. Strictly American labor is against a strike."

COTTON CROP OF MORE THAN 11,000,000 BALES

Washington, Sept. 2.—The Bureau of Crop Estimates' report on condition of cotton on August 25 was 61.4 per cent. of a normal, compared with 63.1 on August 18, 1919; 74.6 on August 25, 1918; 67.8 on August 25, 1917, and the average of 68.4 on August 25 for ten years past.

A condition of 61.4 on August 25 forecasts a yield per acre of about 153.8 pounds and a total production of about 11,230,000 bales. Last year's production was 12,040,532 bales, two years ago 11,302,275 bales, five years ago 11,449,930, four years ago 11,-191,820 and five years ago 16,134,930 bales.

ALSATIANS RESUME POTASH SHIPMENTS

Since Germans were driven across the Rhine, manufacturers and shippers in this country have been awaiting a resumption of potash shipments from Alsatian mines. The first substantial tonnages arrived last month and were found of about the same grades as pre-war shipments. Orders warded for years by the German Kali syndicate.

The French are making the shipments now. They have sold chiefly to the U. S. Potash Co. of America at prices obtained about $20 and produced about 100,000 tons annually. The United States bought about 20 per cent. of this output.

Railroad Earnings

The Lehigh Valley road reports a decrease of $668,668 in July gross, while net decreased $626,497. For seven months its gross increased $1,130,894, but net decreased $278,-545.

The Southern Railway's July gross decreased 1,041,702 and its net decreased $2,-019,963. In seven months it gained $2,976,-711 in gross, but its net decreased $13,008,238.

Oil Refining in Texas

During May oil refineries in Texas consumed about 5,500,000 barrels of crude oil, according to Bureau of Mines reports. There are now twenty-six refineries operating in the State and their daily capacity totals 213,000 barrels. Oil production in Texas is estimated at 155,000 barrels a day.

More Coal Cars Needed

The car shortage may cause coal scarcity during the coming Winter, according to shippers of fuel. Lack of transportation facilities is already reducing production at mines. In ten weeks it was cut 1,000,000 tons for this reason it is estimated.

MAY MELT A MILLION MORE TONS OF SUGAR

It is believed that sugar meltings by all refineries in the United States during 1919 will be from 900,000 to 1,000,000 tons in excess of the 1918 total. Meltings last year amounted to 3,086,000 tons. The estimated gain would approximate 33 per cent.

It is figured that meltings for the balance of this year would exceed 1,250,000 tons, compared with 933,000 for the corresponding 1918 period. The estimate is based upon the available supply of raw sugar. Up to August 16, meltings in 1919 totalled 2,764,732 tons. If continued on the same scale, the years total would exceed 4,000,-000 tons.

Mexican Oil Shipments

Shipments of crude oil from Mexico during the week ending reported by companies operating in that country amounted to 4,847,018 barrels.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN SEPTEMBER 2, 1919, BOSTON

Street Railway Fares Can Be Lowered Only by Public

President Neal of the Boston Elevated told the State Commission, now investigating street railway affairs in Massachusetts, that in his opinion a ten-cent fare was unjustified, both socially and financially.

We take it that no one except a few unprogressive real estate trustees will disagree with him. It is interesting to note also that Chairman Jackson, representing the public trustees of the Boston Elevated, takes the same position.

This opinion, of course, applies not only to the Boston Elevated, but to all street railways in Massachusetts which are charging as high a rate. It thus applies practically to all the street railways in the State.

But it is known of all men that the fares cannot be lowered except by the public WHEN THE PUBLIC OWNS AND OPERATES THE STREET RAILWAYS. Even so great a beneficiary of private operation as Mr. Bentley Warren admits this fact and suggests that the public could drive a good bargain with the stockholders today. Mr. Warren tells us also that even if we took a depreciated property we must remember that we had the benefit of the depreciation, for it was depreciated in the public service. At first blush this may seem to be true, but in actual fact it is entirely untrue. Anyone who stops to think about it will appreciate how untrue it is. The public has not had the benefit of the depreciation of these street railway properties. The public HAS had all the injury of this depreciation, but not ALL the benefits.

However, the American agrees with Mr. Warren that we can drive a good bargain with the owners of these street railways today. They are, or ought to be, anxious to sell their property to the public. The only market they have is the public, and they are more foolish than the American thinks they are if they do not appreciate this exceedingly important fact.

The American does not hesitate to say to the commission that it ought to waste very little time in hearing testimony in favor or against the public taking of the street railways. There is no evidence necessary to determine a generally well-informed man on this question. The important task of this commission is to advise us concerning the method and amount of compensation which we ought to pay.

Mr. Roosevelt's Attack Is Unbecoming and Unjust

Young Mr. Roosevelt, who is making speeches for the purpose of organizing the American Legion, delivers himself of the following diatribe against Henry Ford and Colonel William J. Bryan:

Nothing would have been better for our countrymen and women than for each and every one of them to have spent some time in the war zone. When I think of men of the type of Bryan and Ford, when I think of their self-satisfied lives of ease, when I think of what they did to allow disaster and death to threaten this country, it makes me wonder more than ever at the long suffering kindness of humanity which permits such as they still to enjoy the benefits of citizenship in this great land which they have so signally failed to serve.

This is a sophomoric, ill-considered, ill-phrased diatribe against two men who dwell quite above the reach of Colonel Roosevelt's ill-aimed, feeble shafts. When Mr. Bryan was considerably older than Mr. Roosevelt, he volunteered in the Spanish War, was made a colonel and commanded his regiment. Henry Ford has rendered services both in time of war and peace which have distinguished him. He is one of the nation's leading men.

If both Mr. Ford and Mr. Bryan have been wrong, and we believe that they have, concerning the wisdom of trusting entirely to the theory that the wind is tempered to the shorn lamb and that we can put our faith in justice and not keep our powder dry, yet a very large body of their countrymen believe that they are right; a considerably larger body believe that they are sincere in their pacifism. The American believes that one of the greatest dangers to our country and to the democracy of the world is fanantical pacifism such as Mr. Ford and Mr. Bryan have preached. But for a young man like Mr. Roosevelt to denounce them in the language that he used is most unbecoming and unjust. If it indicates a permanent state of mind and character on the part of Mr. Roosevelt, then it indicates that when he comes out of the shadow of his father's name he will himself cast a very attenuated shadow.

Canada Picks Great Leader

The Liberal party in Canada has held its convention, selected its leader in Mr. MacKenzie King.

Mr. King is one of the most distinguished and enlightened men in Canada and one of the most forward-looking men in the whole North American continent. Under his leadership the Liberal party of Canada ought to become a great force for the welfare of the Canadian people.

At this convention we notice that the principle of preferential voting was adopted. So this electoral reform so necessary to give minorities a just representation and to prevent, paradoxical as this seems, a minority from controlling the government is progressing throughout the world. We understand that this principle has been adopted in Hungary, in Austria, in Germany, in Russia, in Denmark, in Finland and is about to be adopted in France on recommendation of the government itself.

The system by which a great number of voters in a district is practically disfranchised and by which even majorities themselves can be overthrown by minorities under the system of gerrymander, are vicious contradictions of democracy. One of the first steps that must be taken toward an electoral reform in this State is the correction of these two evils.

More Truth Than Poetry

WHEN PERSHING COMES HOME

By S. E. KISER

WHEN Pershing arrives he will find many things
That are not as they were when he hurried away;
With all his old unction the tuneful Tom sings
When darkness has followed the light of the day;
But the nickel cigar is now sold for a dime;
Where the wild cabaret was alluring before
Few people are spending their money or time,
And the popping of corks isn't heard any more.

THE suit that cost thirty costs fifty-five now,
And there isn't a house in the country for rent;
Man's chief occupation is studying how
To get by with an increase of ninety per cent.;
The transfer, though flimsy, no longer is free,
Our once mighty dollar is cheapened and frail;
There is much that is changed on this side of the sea,
But no profiteer counts his profits in jail.

WHEN Pershing arrives he will notice the change;
The quarter has dwindled to half its old size;
He will have a quick pang when he goes to arrange
For the purchase of things that the grocer supplies;
There are women in places that men used to fill,
Things are turned topsy-turvy all over the land;
But the coal and ice barons and packers are still Demanding their tribute, each at his old stand.

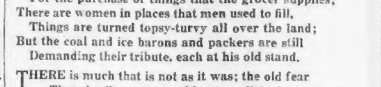
THERE is much that is not as it was; the old fear
That the Germans would get us disturbs us no more;
The toper is toping on three per cent. beer,
Instead of the stuff he demanded before;
But when Pershing comes home he will find, if he cares
To look where the Rio continues to flow
And the bandits make merry at will, that affairs
Are about as he left them, some seasons ago.



USELESS CONCERN

J. C. G. wants to know why we hear so little lately about McAdoo. We could find out if it were necessary, but why worry about a matter that should not be disturbing?

IT WOULD BE COMFORTING

Mr. Gompers tells us there will be no cataclysm. This is encouraging, but we wish he could go a little further and promise us another Winter such as last Winter was.

SUCH THINGS DO HAPPEN

He fell upon his knees before her,
But not to make a wild appeal;
He wasn't kneeling to adore her;
An orange peel
Had come in contact with his heel.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

TO EDWARD Albert.
THE PRINCE of Wales
SOMEWHERE IN Canada.
MY DEAR Eddie,
JUST THE other day.
I SAW your picture.
IN A movie theatre.
AND A man behind you.
WAS HOLDING a flag.
IN A heavy wind.
AND RIGHT away.
THERE CAME into my mind.
A CANADIAN town.
IN 1885.
ON THE Jubilee Day.
OF YOUR great grandmother.
AND I was there.
WITH A lot of little boys.
ALL OF them members.
OF THE Band of Hope.
AND WE had to parade.
AND THE line of march.
WAS THROUGH Main street.
AND TURN to the right.
AT THE market place.
AND UP the hill.
PAST THE Catholic church.
AND WHEREVER it was.
WE WENT after that.
I HAVE quite forgotten.
BECAUSE it happened.
THAT I was one.
OF A couple of boys.
WHO HAD been selected.
TO CARRY a banner.
AND ABOUT the time.
WE TURNED to the right.
TO GO UP the hill.
THERE CAME up a wind.
AND IF ever you've seen
A SCRUBBY pine.
LASH AROUND in the wind.
I'M HERE to tell you.
IT HAD nothing on me.
GOING UP that hill.
AND THE other boy.
WAS FATTER than I.
AND HE wallowed around.
LIKE A rudderless ship.
IN AN angry sea.
AND ON that day.
THE BOTH of us.
SAID UNKIND things.
OF QUEEN Victoria.
AND THE royal family.
AND THE Band of Hope.
AND EVERYTHING else.
AND OF course I know.
IT WASN'T your fault.
FOR YOU weren't born then.
AND I'M writing this.
JUST TO give you warning.
THAT THE other boy.
WAS "ARTIE" Calder.
WHO IS known now.
AS ARTHUR B. Calder.
WHOM YOU'LL recognize.
AS ONE of the company.
OF DISTINGUISHED gentlemen.
WHO ARE living with you.
ON THE royal train.
JUST GRAB him some morning.
AND ASK him to tell you.
WHAT HE said that day.
ON THE brow of the hill.
NEAR THE Catholic church.

I THANK you.

TELEPATHY GIVES WIDE FIELD FOR STUDY

By Garrett P. Serviss

FIVE Bostonians, who have been puzzled by the performances of a "mental telepathist" in a theatre in their town, collectively sign their names to a letter containing the following double question: "Is mental telepathy an actual transmission of thought from brain to brain: and if it is why do not the governments of civilized countries foster the study of this wonderful art."

The scientific mind is inclined to reject, or at least to regard as illusory, any alleged phenomena which cannot be explained through already known natural laws of action. As soon, however, as a reasonable indication appears of a possible extension of natural action beyond previously assumed limits, the same mind is usually ready to examine the evidence on which the new phenomena rest, and to admit, as a working hypothesis, that they may be genuine and real.

Indications Exist

I think that telepathy has arrived at this stage. There are sufficient indications that such things as sound, touch and eyesight do not include all the means by which one mind may communicate with another to make the hypothesis of the existence of some more subtle means of communication tenable.

It is tenable, from a scientific point of view, because it does not go beyond the realm of physical or material control. It simply assumes that the brain is capable of transmitting and receiving and of interpreting in terms of thought vibrations of the ether which are not the same as those that produce the sensation of light.

The late Sir William Crookes suggested that the waves conveying telepathic messages might be smaller and quicker than those which form the X-rays. Such waves would have no effect upon the eye or upon the ordinary senses. But the cells of the brain, through some yet undetected mechanism, might respond to them. They would thus afford the most subtle of all connections between intelligent beings. And yet there would be nothing "supernatural" about the phenomena. There is no necessity for supposing the waves to be actuated by "disembodied spirits." They are the product of living brains and affect only living brains.

"Is telepathy an actual transmission of thought from brain to brain?" No more than a telephone or telegraph message is an actual transmission of thought. No more than a ray of sunshine is an actual transmission of heat or light. What is really transmitted in any of these cases is a train of vibrations, which are finally, at the end of a series of transformations, interpreted by the brain in the terms of certain sensations, according to their length and frequency.

Would Remould Nature

As to encouraging the study of telepathy, it will be done just as soon as mankind in general has made up its mind that there really is such a thing as telepathy, and that it is a useful form of intercommunication. The great scientific body which leads the education of the world must first have convinced itself on this subject. When that has been done—if it ever is done—the public conviction will not linger behind.

But it might be that so free and full a means of communication between all minds as a perfected and fully developed system of universal telepathy would provide would by no means suit the needs and exigencies of human life. Thoughts would lie too open. It would be all but impossible to have any secrets. Human nature would have to be made over and straightened out before it could face such a situation as that. Crooked schemers would have no occupation left.

Hidden prejudices, dislikes, hatreds, jealousies, envies, evil intentions, malevolence, concocted surprises, meditated attacks, would lie exposed. It would be not "a word and a blow," but a thought and a blow. As in Hans Christian Andersen's story of "The Goloshes of Fortune," everybody could walk inside everybody else's heart, and the spectacles seen would very rarely promote feelings of brotherhood and respect.

In a word, I do not think that it is either probable or desirable that telepathy will, or should, become a generally practised "art" in our lifetime, whatever the undiscernible future may have in store.

VEXATIOUS SERVANT PROBLEM TODAY

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

WHERE are the maids of yesteryear?

Where are Bridget, and 'Mandy, and Fifine, and Gretchen, and Hilda?

Ask of the winds that howl over Babylon and Carthage and Nineveh!

Along with "the splendor that was Greece and the glory that was Rome," along with Paganism and Chivalry and the Crusades and a dozen other outworn creeds and systems, domestic service as we knew it has gone to join history's seven thousand years.

In the general shaking out of thrones during the past four years the seventy-eight royalties who went into oblivion were not all who left us. With them went, too, the so-called "Queen of the Kitchen." The only difference is that she went of her own volition, and that while they never will be missed, she will be, and is.

It is useless to blink at facts. The old order of housekeeping is dead and done for. There are, of course, a few scattered homes which remain unaffected; everywhere people, in the hope that old conditions will return, are trying to cling to their accustomed methods, and are making a sorry task of it.

We might just as well face the situation, and decide what we are going to do about it.

"Those were the happy days," almost any mistress will tell you in speaking of the years before the war. When one needed a servant, one went to an intelligence office and, out of a score of applicants, selected one whose qualifications and references seemed to suit.

Then—and Now

That was all there was to it. If one was willing to pay the price, one was assured of trained, efficient service — well-cooked meals, a thorough cleaning of the rooms, deft waiting at the table, spotless laundering. If one preferred to do the training, there was always a flock of amateurs eager to learn at a minimum wage.

At present it is often impossible to obtain a maid of any sort, no matter what the remuneration offered; while those who can be secured are for the most part incompetent, unreliable and shiftless. Women are to-day paying ten, twelve, fifteen dollars a week and up for slovens and counterfeits whom four years ago they would not have permitted inside their houses.

They are granting all sorts of privileges and submitting to unheard-of exactions, merely to retain some semblance of "help." The price of a really efficient maid—if any of the extinct species remains—is literally above rubies.

Then what is going to be done about it? The meals must be cooked, the dishes washed, the beds made, the sweeping and washing and dusting and scrubbing done by somebody. This work is fully as important as that which is done in the factories and stores and workshops—more important, perhaps, for upon it depends in a direct degree the health and well-being and efficiency of the nation.

Might Solve Problem

With a family of any size and with the many outside demands that are now made upon women, there must be—especially in times of emergency or sickness—domestic help.

Neither will a system of community service solve the problem. The American people are too deeply-wedded to their home cooking and home comforts to become a race of hotel or community dwellers.

Two facts, though, stand out which give promise. The housekeeper has become educated to paying high wages for this class of work, higher than is paid for more onerous work in other directions; and the worker will naturally gravitate toward the highest pay.

Let a number of efficient, capable women who desire employment get together in every centre in the country. Let them organize, and out of their experience formulate a contract, as is done in many other professions and vocations, covering the exact scope of their duties, their hours, their privileges, their salary and their pay-days.
